Moving Forward

Nothing But Steady and Increasingly Rapid Improvement on Victoria's Horizon Now

British Columbia is at present experiencing the greatest building activity since the prosperous days of a decade ago.

This is the summary of conditions by John Graham, financial journalist of Vancouver. His business is to keep in touch with the buildings trades and to know exactly what is going on.

Construction work estimated at $27,000,000 is now under way as Winter approaches, he says. A large part of this is being expended for fundamental industries, sawmills, pulpmills, grain elevators, docks. Besides there are projects proposed and soon to begin amounting to $23,000,000. The work is well distributed over the Province from Prince George to Victoria.

All this work is being undertaken now because financial people who hold the purse strings know that the reverberations of what has been going on down the Coast are beginning to be sensed in this northern part. They know that the man with confidence to go ahead will soon be in the same comfortable position as the man who got in early on the ground floor in California.

J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor for B. C., re-inforces good news which comes in from other sources.

Labor conditions in Victoria and on the Island are better now than they have been since the shipbuilding boom, Mr. McNiven says. In fact, things are so satisfactory that little unemployment is anticipated this Winter. Logging camps and mills are running full time and constantly expanding their operations. There is actually a slight shortage of plasterers, masons and good building laborers.

Little barometers in the offices of the transportation companies forecast the trend of business and development. These barometers are the monthly and other reports which go into the company's treasury. These forecasts are all for fair and better.

Just what has been in these non-public reports recently may be judged from the announcement that Capt. J. W. Troup of the C.P.R. is leaving for England to order two new passenger boats, larger than the Princess Charlotte and faster than the Princess Patricia, to handle the increase in traffic on the Victoria runs.

Then Joshua Green, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, comes over from Seattle and in addition to the other three motor ferries, arranges for the inauguration of another to handle motor car traffic between this city and the Mainland. It is going to be a fine ferry, this one he will put on between Victoria and Port Angeles next season, carrying forty cars and 400 passengers and making three round trips a day.

People in all parts of England are turning their faces to British Columbia as the "land of Heart's Desire," according to Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., who has returned from her lecture tour of England.

VICTORIA AT HEAD OF LIST

Most Beautiful City in America, Says Winnipeg Lady Writer

Victoria is described as the most beautiful city in America in a full page article in The Manitoba Free Press by Miss Kennethe M. Haigh, one of the Women's Press Club party that recently held their convention in Vancouver and also journeyed to Victoria.

After general references to British Columbia scenery and industries, under the head of "Fair Victoria by the Sea," Miss Haigh writes:

"One morning, as guests of the C.P.R., we sailed to Victoria by the most beautiful route to the most beautiful city in America, where loveliness lingers the whole year round, Victoria, prodigal of roses, which gave us roses for our Decembers; Victoria beautiful by day where everywhere is a garden and every garden a bower. Victoria under a full moon, shinning on the mountains, glittering on the sea, breaking into drifting silver through the leaves; Victoria with its stately Parliament buildings, all picked out with crowns of light in honor of the visitors and then darkening into the warm shadows.

"Victoria is awakening also. We're not sure we liked that. They insisted upon telling us about shipping salmon, and Portland cement and minerals and strawberries and board feet of timber, and all the while we were merely looking intelligent. Our heart was with the roses. Surely Canada can afford one City-o-Dreams."

MASONIC LEADERS TO MEET IN 1924 IN VANCOUVER

Lady Expert on Tourist Business Speaks To-morrow

Pointing out that Miss Harriett Geithmann, who will speak at a luncheon meeting under the joint auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, has valuable information on the tourist trade, the officials of the organizations appeal for a full attendance of members to-morrow afternoon at 12.15. Miss Geithmann is a speaker of outstanding personality whose unusual ability has been the subject of much comment. She is honorary graduate of an eastern university, has been the representative of Rainier National Park and the Pacific Northwest at the Yellowstone Park Bureau, and as an ardent believer in the value of tourist bureau, is well able to throw expert light on this subject.

Victoria citizens interested in tourist traffic possibilities who are not members of the chamber or bureau are also cordially invited to the meeting.

Arthur Warren, secretary of the U.S. Near Relief Society, who addressed the Rotarians to-day on the sufferings of the Armenians will also speak at the meeting.

FIRST TRAIN OVER RAILWAY SECTION OF BRIDGE TO-DAY

It was announced at the City Hall to-day that the railway section of the Johnson Street Bridge would be used for the incoming down train at 5 o'clock this afternoon, thus bringing into use that portion of the bridge. This will enable the city engineering department to proceed with the adaptation of the highway section for vehicular purposes at once, which has hitherto been used for trackage purposes.

MACLEAN TO RAISE STANDARD OF B.C. SCHOOL TEACHERS

New Rules Govern Normal School Requirements

Many More Men and Women Going Into Profession Now

Important changes in the training of teachers in British Columbia were announced to-day by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education.

High school students, Dr. MacLean stated, will no longer be admitted to normal schools on the old requirements, which called merely for junior matriculation certificates. Hereafter, students who are preparing to enter the teaching profession will be required to take up, in addition to the work prescribed for junior matriculation students in literature, composition, arithmetic, algebra, geometry, one science and one language, the subjects of Canadian history and Canadian civics, British history and geography.

It is expected that this modification of the course will result in an improvement in the teaching service, Dr. MacLean said. Normal School graduates will, it is hoped, enter upon their work with better preparation than they had under the old requirements.

University graduates were, in the past, required to attend normal school for one term only, Dr. Mac-

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 25.—A dozen or more House members forcibly attacked Representative Callahan, smashed a chair and threw Callahan out of the room when he declared in a bitter arraignment of the Ku Klux Klan that N. C. Jewett, Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma Realm of the Klan, was dictating the kind of legislation to be enacted in Oklahoma.

HON. FRANK OLIVER HONORED BY NORTH ALBERTA PEOPLE

Edmonton, Oct. 25—Almost on the spot overlooking the broad sweep of the North Saskatchewan River where he halted his ox cart the first night of his arrival in Edmonton forty-seven years ago, hundreds of citizens of Northern Alberta assembled last night in a memorable reception to Hon. Frank Oliver, pioneer newspaper man of the West, who was recently appointed to the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada.

Seldom has Edmonton witnessed such a unique and representative gathering. An illuminated address inscribed "To Hon. Frank Oliver from the citizens of Edmonton, October 24, 1923; testimonial for half a century of public service," was presented to the guest of honor. It was pointed out by some of the speakers that it was exactly fifty years ago that Mr. Oliver first came to Winnipeg from The Toronto Globe office, where he worked under the direction of Hon. George Brown.

URGES BRITISH TO INVEST IN CANADA

Premier King Renews Invitation in Speech in London

Canada is Second Largest Manufacturing Nation in Empire

London, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press Cable by George Hambleton, Staff Correspondent)—Premier King renewed his plea last night for the investment of British capital in Canada.

Speaking at a dinner given by the Association of British Chambers of Commerce at which Arthur Balfour presided, Premier King declared that two things needed by a young and growing country like Canada were manufactures and money. He reviewed Canada's recent great growth in mineral production, in agriculture, manufactures, fisheries and forest wealth. The total output of Canada's manufacturing establishments, he said, now reached a higher value annually than that of her farms.

Exporting Manufactures

"We are, in brief," Premier King said, "the second largest manufacturing nation in the Empire. Our exports to the other Dominions consist almost in their entirety of manufactured goods, being in the case of India and Australia almost ninety-nine per cent. manufactures and in the case of South Africa and New Zealand over ninety per cent. Even in the case of the United States our exports of manufactured and partly manufactured goods largely exceed our exports of raw materials."

During the last decade also, continued the Premier, Canada had passed from the category of nations whose imports exceeded their exports and in 1922 she stood fifth. Canada emphatically was making good.

It was a fact that United States investments in Canada were rapidly increasing, but this fact should act as a spur to the British investor rather than a hindrance.

NEW REPARATIONS CONFERENCE NOTES

British and United States Communications to be Published

No Change in Attitude of U.S. Government

London, Oct. 25.—By common consent, the State Department in Washington and the British Foreign Office will issue to-night for publication in to-morrow morning's newspapers two important lengthy telegrams exchanged between Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, and Secretary of State Hughes concerning an international conference on reparations.

No Change

Washington, Oct. 25.—Although there has been an exchange of correspondence between Secretary Hughes and Lord Curzon dealing with the reparations question, there is no indication here that the discussion marked any striking development in the situation or any change in the attitude of the United States.

LIVESTOCK SHOW

BRUCE SUGGESTS TARIFF FOR BRITAIN

To Protect British Agriculture; Preference For Dominions

Farmers' Union Addressed by Australian Premier

London, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press Cable)—Speaking at a dinner of the National Farmers' Union last night, Premier Bruce of Australia urged the promotion of agriculture in Great Britain and the Dominions as the one hope for industrial Britain, adding that despite that fact feeling in Great Britain tended toward antagonism of Dominion agriculture, but they had no right to be.

Premier Bruce declared the Dominions agreed that Great Britain was the first market for British agriculture, but he asked that thereafter the Dominions should have first claim of supplying the British market with commodities not produced in Great Britain. The Dominions wanted markets in Great Britain, but if they could not be found there they would be found elsewhere and the trade between Great Britain and the Dominions would be decreased.

Competition

The main cause of the trouble was the freedom of the British markets to all competitors. He would not complain if the competition were fair, but it was unfair as it did not take into account the low standard of liv-

Washington, Oct. 25.—Washington extended the official welcome of the nation to-day to David Lloyd George, Great Britain's wartime Premier. From the moment of his early arrival and greeting at the station by Third Assistant Secretary of State J. Butler Wright and Counsellor Charles Chilton, of the British Embassy, the former Premier's programme for the day, beginning with a call on Secretary Hughes, offered little opportunity for relaxation after his strenuous trip thus far in America.

Leaving the State Department, a call on President Coolidge at the White House was next on the programme. Luncheon there with the President followed, with members of the Cabinet invited to meet the former Premier.

Afternoon hours had been set apart to include the event to which Lloyd George had said he looked forward with especial pleasure among all American anticipations—his visit to Woodrow Wilson.

PALATINATE REPORTS TO-DAY CONFUSED

Not Clear Whether Bavarian Area is Republic or Part of Germany

No Action by Allied Rhineland Commission

Berlin, Oct. 25.—The situation in the Bavarian Palatinate is still confused. One dispatch from Speyer says the provincial Diet rejected a proposal for an autonomous state, while The Ludwigshafen Post, a Socialist newspaper, says the radicals have preserved the Palatinate's allegiance to the Reich by establishing an independent state within Germany. Other telegrams variously report an independent Palatinate and plans to organize a Palatinate Republic as a federal state of the Reich.

Reports Denied

Coblenz, Oct. 15.—The Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission to-day issued official denial of reports circulated in Germany and abroad to the effect that a delegate of the Commission was actively engaged at Speyer in plans for the creation of a Palatinate Republic.

VICTORIA TO HAVE DIRECT DISPLAY

Question of Participation in British Empire Exhibition

Premier Will Endeavor to Secure Space For Capital City

Initial steps were taken yesterday with regard to securing some special representation of Victoria products in the British Columbia section of the British Empire Exhibition. Alderman Harvey laid before Premier Oliver the suggestion of arranging for direct participation.

The hope is expressed by Alderman Harvey, who is chairman of the industrial committee of the City Council, that having in view the necessarily restricted space which can be given to the exhibits of any individual city amid such a mass of displays representative of every section of Canada, the exhibits will not be large, but that models of ships, of buildings, and similar exhibits would be most acceptable, apart from the small domestic and similar requisites which are manufactured here, which would not require much space for display purposes.

Alderman Harvey said: "I have taken the subject up with Premier Oliver, who thinks the idea is a good one, and should take definite shape. He has promised that he will discuss the matter with the different departments, and try to arrange for the exhibit to be tabled as the product of Victoria.

"I am extremely anxious to hear from all those firms who can make an exhibit as early as possible, in order that the name of Victoria may be brought before the many thousands of visitors who will go to the great exhibition next year.

"Some of the products which a brief consideration of the subject would suggest are sashes and doors, models of ships constructed here, soap and paint, seed exhibits, roofing paper, preserves, building materials, and similar products."

Alderman Harvey will welcome any suggestions which can be made to assure the exhibit being a representative one.

TO HELP DOMINIONS DEVELOP NAVIES

Admiralty Prepared, Says Vice-Admiral Keyes

Leader Looks Forward to Empire Fleet

London, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press cable by George Hambleton, staff correspondent) — Vice-Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, addressing a dinner given by the Association of British Chambers of Commerce last night, said he thought the country was faced with a programme of cruiser construction.

He drew a picture of an Empire fleet composed partly of ships provided by the Mother Country and partly by the Dominions. It might not come in the lifetime of those present, but it probably would come in the future as the population of the Dominions developed. The development of local navies had not always been advocated, but, Sir Roger added, "I can assure you that from now on the Admiralty will subscribe to the idea and will do all it can to help in the development of those Dominions which already exist, and to help the others through the pange of child birth."

POLICE OF GERMAN CAPITAL OPPOSING COMMUNISTS' EFFORTS

Serious Trouble Expected To-night, Says Dispatch; In Rhineland the Republicans To-day Are In About the Same Position As Yesterday

London, Oct. 25.—A Central News dispatch sent from Berlin shortly after three o'clock this afternoon said large bands of Communists were marching on the German capital and police had been rushed out to intercept them.

The dispatch said Communists also were assembling in strong force in the Lichtenberger district of Berlin, but police had surrounded the whole neighborhood and were not allowing anyone to pass through their cordon.

The message added that serious trouble was expected to-night.

Paris, Oct. 25.—A Rhineland Republic this morning seems as far away as ever for the Separatists. Although they are making fresh conquests, they do not appear to have sufficient forces to hold them.

FORTY-SIX PERSONS LOST THEIR LIVES IN HAMBURG FIGHTING

Paris, Oct. 25.—A Hamburg dispatch to The Journal says forty-six persons were killed and 230 wounded in the fighting between Communists and police in the last two days. The former lost thirty-four dead, while the police casualties amounted to twelve.

GREATER FREEDOM FOR GERMAN STATES

Chancellor Says Demand of Premiers Will be Met

End of Martial Law; State of Emergency

Berlin, Oct. 25.—Upholding the central Government in its controversy with Bavaria, the federal Premiers, in conference here last night, nevertheless demanded the immediate termination of martial law and the restoration of normal legal procedure to avoid a récurrence of such disputes as that between Munich and Berlin, which has threatened serious consequences. The Premiers also asked that negotiations be started toward greater independence for the states comprising the republic.

Chancellor Stresemann, who later went with several Government officials to Hagen, Westphalia, to talk over economic and political affairs with the Ruhr and Rhineland leaders, informed the Premiers that the central Government was ready to discuss greater freedom for the states and to withdraw the martial law decree as soon as the situation would permit. A state of civil emergency would be substituted, he said.

Greek Troops Hold Corinth; Uprising Ends in Failure

Athens, Oct. 25.—Government troops have occupied Corinth and the complete failure of the revolution is assured, according to advices received from the Peloponnesus this morning.

Mutineers estimated at 1,500 were under command of General Metaxas at Corinth. Prior to their capture the Government announced that 1,000 mutineers in the cities of Drama and Xanthi had surrendered and that the city of Cavalla had been reoccupied, eradicating the movement in Thrace.

Premier King and Colleagues Impress British Observers

Quebec, Oct. 25.—Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, and his colleagues at the Imperial Conferences in London, hold the leading place in competition with other representative bodies of statesmen from the different Dominions of the Empire, said Mr. Justice P. A. Choquette, who returned yesterday after a two months' visit in England, Scotland, France and Belgium.

Mr. Justice Choquette said Mr. King and his colleagues attending the conference are making a splendid impression on the British public.

The loyalists, in the presence of the complete apathy of the general public, seem to have not the least difficulty in regaining control, so that when a balance is struck the Separatists are in much the same situation to-day as they were yesterday.

REPUBLICAN GAINS

Coblenz, Oct. 25.—The Rhineland Republic was proclaimed this morning at the former quarters of the United States forces in Germany in Andernach, ten miles northwest of Coblenz. It was proclaimed also at Arhweiler, near Coblenz, as well as at Soden, Birel and Gaistenheim, small towns situated respectively in the districts of Weisbaden, Bonn and Rudesheim.

AIX SCENE OF FIGHT

Aix-la-Chapelle, Oct. 25.—The police this morning attacked the Regierung Palace, the only remaining public building in the hands of the Separatists. Five policemen and two Separatists were killed.

Later thirty-five members of the police force called at the Belgian military headquarters and requested that they be disarmed.

OCCUPIED BY FRENCH

Paris, Oct. 25.—A crowd of Communists and Nationalists fired at 11.30 o'clock this morning on the prefecture of police in Wiesbaden, which was occupied by French soldiers, says a dispatch to The Temps from Wiesbaden this afternoon. The assailants were vigorously driven off.

CLASHES IN CREFELD

Cologne, Oct. 25, 10.45 a.m.—Clashes occurred this morning between armed civilians and Separatists in Crefeld, following the hoisting of the republican flag over the Rathaus, which Burgomaster Johanson surrendered to the Separatists yesterday, according to reports reaching Cologne this morning.

The Separatists say they are 4,000 strong in Crefeld. Belgian officers, however, estimate their number at about 1,700.

MINISTER TO INVESTIGATE RUM-RUNNING

Bureau Expected to Look Into Liquor Conditions on Coast For Himself

Japanese to Ask His Help to Clear up Charges of Manufacturing Saki

Rum-running out of British Columbia ports to the United States will be investigated at first hand by Hon. Jacques Bureau, Federal Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, when he arrives on the coast shortly, it is understood here. Canadian and United States officials will hold a conference in Ottawa soon to discuss methods of handling the smuggling situation and it is understood that Mr. Bureau wishes to see conditions for himself on this coast before the liquor conference opens. The Minister is expected to reach this coast in the near future.

An effort will be made on the arrival of Mr. Bureau, to enter into a conference with Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General for British Columbia, with a view to having a peculiar tangle in the matter of liquor legislation straightened. Awaiting the outcome of this meeting are fourteen Japanese and one white man, charged in the police court with being in possession of unsealed liquor.

Some time ago the Department of Inland Revenue promulgated an order to the effect that householders in any Canadian province could manu-

"The Meaning of Semi-ready"

Quality Talks Firs t

With the Good Merchant the first and the last thought is of Quality—and with us we make well-tailored Clothes at a fair price—letting the cost value be a secondary consideration.

Frankly, we could sell cheaper clothes and make a bigger margain of profit—as many do—but we could not smile in the eye of the customer after, did we do it.

Semi-ready Tailoring was founded on the belief that Men wanted "something better" in clothes ready to get quickly—and one must not compare "Semi-ready" with ready-made clothes—for they are utterly different. There is twice the inside work in a Semi-ready coat—that is why we can guarantee each garment to stand up and give satisfaction.

Quality Clothes are cheapest—they really cost less, and their wearer looks as prosperous as the clothes are.

May we show you what we mean—in Suits and Overcoats at $25, or $35, or $45—the value is there. Always look for the plain price label in the pocket—if it's not there, it's not a "Semi-ready."

ing, cheap labor, depreciated currency and dumped surpluses. That was not freedom, but license (cheers).

Premier Bruce stressed the necessity of educating the people of Great Britain, especially industrial Britain, to appreciate first that the only way of creating development was to ensure a British market for Dominion and British agriculture; second, that it could be done without increasing the cost of living in Great Britain or the cost of raw materials.

Urges Tariff Policy

Premier Bruce announced himself as an advocate of a tariff policy to protect British agriculture, with a preference for Dominion agricultural products, but he was not prepared to bolt the door on any other solution. He believed Great Britain would not pay more for food and raw materials under such a policy than she would pay in the future if the present policy remained unchanged.

CASE FOR CROWN IN DRUG HEARING CLOSED TO-DAY

Defence Opened This Afternoon; Mounted Police Testify For Prosecution

The case for the prosecution against F. W. Eccles, William Fernandez and W. L. Smith, held on drug charges, was brought to a close at the conclusion of the morning session in the City Police Court to-day. This afternoon the defence is being entered. The feature of the morning hearing was the calling of three officers of the Victoria division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in evidence against the accused.

When the hearing was resumed this morning Customs Officer G. E. Norris took the witness stand. Witness admitted receiving a telegram from Ottawa instructing him to withhold his evidence as the parties charged were acting under departmental orders.

Sidney Hunt, driver of a taxi-cab, and the complainant in the threat charges against the accused, told of being hired by Mr. Norris to follow the Fernandez car. Witness stayed with Mr. Norris until after the conclusion of the vigil. Witness described the events that took place at Beacon Hill Park, and also at Room 418 at the Strathcona Hotel. Witness heard Fernandez telling Norris to "put the gun away," and heard colorful language. He told of the arrival of the Mounted Police and the giving of the accused in charge by Mr. Norris. Witness was given a gun and flashlight and told to watch the room.

On cross-examination, witness admitted serving a jail term.

Arthur Edward Popham, customs clerk, told of shadowing the accused for the greater part of one day, his movements taking him to the Outer Docks, the Dallas Hotel and generally around town. Witness saw a foreign car at the Hotel Strathcona which he believed was driven by Eccles. Witness saw Smith talking to an immigration officer on the gangplank at the dockside, where the liner Empress of Canada was berthed.

Staff Sergeant Jones, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, told of being requested by Customs Officer Norris to aid in a search at Beacon Hill Park. Here a gunny sack, some string and a mask were found, as well as a scrap of paper. The mask, identified by witness, was a square of cloth with holes cut for the eyes. Witness, with Corporals Small and Harvey, and Constable Knight, all of the Victoria division of the Mounted Police, assisted at a search at 1164 Pembroke Street. Nothing was found, though the search had been requested by Mr. Norris. It struck witness as unusual that Vancouver officers should operate in Victoria without notifying the local office, though he admitted that such might be their orders. Witness asked Eccles after the arrest what duty he was on, and that accused refused to state, remarking that it was confidential.

Visited Park

Sergeant Jones told the court of a trip made to Beacon Hill Park after the arrests when counsel were shown over the ground, Col. Wroughton, Inspector Shoebotham, J. A. Russell, J. B. Pattullo, K.C., and the three accused had been driven there, witness being asked, as he had a car.

On cross-examination witness identified a report in the hands of the defence which he had made to his superior officers at Vancouver. The report was his own, save that the signatures of two witnesses and other remarks had been added. Essentially the report was the same, added witness.

Mr. Harrison entered a formal objection, the document had been altered, he said, and was not admissible as evidence. The addition of the names of Inspector Shoebotham and Sergeant Mundy as witnesses, when they had not seen the signature, he would submit, made the report a false document in law. The objection was noted.

Corporal Richard Harvey, of the R.C.M.P., told of acting on the case under orders from Sergeant Jones. Witness received Fernandez and Smith in custody, when three tins he took to be opium were pried out of a grip in the hands of Mr. Norris on Douglas Street as proof of a charge. Smith had stated he was acting on "confidential duty."

Corporal H. F. Small, of the R.C.M.P., stated he saw two of the accused step from a leather goods store on Douglas Street with a black suit case. Witness joined in the search at Beacon Hill Park and saw the sack, mask and other things found. They were dry though the ground was damp at the time.

Chief Fry told of being requested to seal the opium taken. At this stage the Crown rested its case. The defence was entered this afternoon.

At Point of Gun

A grilling cross-examination of Customs Officer G. E. Norris featured the afternoon session of the court yesterday. Witness told of entering room 418 at the Strathcona Hotel, and commanding two of the accused to throw up their hands. Witness kept the accused covered with his revolver while the search was taking place. Prior to this witness, having shadowed the accused, Eccles, for a considerable time and affected his arrest near the Mount Edwards Apartments.

Counsel for the defence suggested to witness that the accused were in Victoria to shadow a Chinaman, Chew Kum Chee, who was said to be evading arrest. Witness had heard nothing of it.

Shadowed Accused

Hugh B. Andrews, a clerk of the Victoria customs office, told of joining in shadowing Eccles. Witness saw all three accused at the hotel and again at the Maryland Cafe. Witness followed Fernandez, he stated, in a car to an address on Pembroke Street, where a colored woman ran out of a house and threw her arms around Fernandez's neck.

A negro came from the house and took the number of witness's car. Fernandez left. Witness then joined Mr. Norris in watching Eccles, and was present at the arrest.

Eccles, said witness, moved to push Norris away, so witness drew a gun, and told Eccles to throw up his hands. Eccles wavered, and then did as he was told.

Norris searched the prisoner on the street, and found a bottle of whisky and a gun. Eccles declared "a mistake had been made, and that they would be sorry for it." Witness stopped the first passing car, and placed the Rev. William John Bruce, a retired minister, of Mount Newton, under orders to watch the prisoner, Eccles. All then went to the Pemberton Building to the office of the Mounted Police, where Eccles was handed over. Eccles was prevented from telephoning, though he made the attempt.

Clergyman Constable

The Rev. William Bruce told of being called to assist the police. Witness advised Eccles to go quietly with the customs men and have the whole matter cleared up. Witness remained under orders at the Pemberton Building until told at midnight to report to the Strathcona Hotel, where he was "dismissed," and allowed to go to his home. It was his first experience as a policeman.

facture liquor and beer for their own consumption by notifying the department to such effect in writing. This was done largely to protect the housewife who makes her own rhubarb wine and the citizen who has his own recipe for an alcoholic beverage made from dandelions, red currants or raisins.

Japanese Make Saki

The Japanese in British Columbia, anxious to obey the law, immediately notified the Federal authorities that they intended making saki for family consumption.

The department acknowledged receipt of these notices, and the Japanese went happily to work producing the Nippon national drink. Almost every kitchen in the Japanese quarter of Vancouver became a miniature vat house and distillery, and little brown men boasted of the excellence of their respective brews.

Plead Technical Offence

Later the Japanese were charged in Vancouver with keeping unsealed liquor. J. A. Russell appeared for the lot and admitted that there was a technical break of the provincial law, although it was purely unintentional, he said. One man volunteered to be "the goat" in a test case, and he was fined $50. Magistrate Shaw agreed to remand the others until such time as the Minister of Customs and the Attorney-General could discuss the matter fully, and in expectation of the early arrival of Hon. Jacques Bureau, adjourned the Japanese for a week.

"This return of another Minister by this handsome majority, following on the return by acclamation of Ministers from Ontario (Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. E. M. It will be received here in England as a complete answer to the misleading and inspired representations which, on our arrival in London, we found to have been disseminated by one or two partizan correspondents to the British press."

GIVES CLOSE-UP OF HOUSE OF COMMONS

Press Gallery Writer Delivers Entertaining Address to Rotarians

Speaking from her two years' experience as the first woman member of the press gallery at Ottawa, Mrs. Genevieve Lipsett-Skinner entertained Rotarians with a "close-up of the House of Commons" at their luncheon to-day.

She gave intimate views of the members and the press gallery, and touched with gifted humor on different members of the House. Her descriptions of Ministers and parties and illustrative stories made her address one of the best that Rotarians have heard for some time.

Speaking of the stenographers at Ottawa, she said they were just the kind of stenographers any woman would choose for her husband's office. Some were halt and some were lame, but none were young. She told a story of a young one who got in by mistake and so surprised one member that he thought it was necessary to kiss her.

A Politician's Day

She spoke of the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King as the man who made the eighteen-hour day for politicians. Mr. Meighen, she said, made it twenty-three hours a day. She described the life of the members during the session and mentioned that the thirty-two members of the press gallery had the same rights and privileges as the members and Senators. She described her entrance to the press gallery as that of the first woman. The men did not know what to make of it. They gave her No. 1 seat, which, she said, turned out to be the worst from the point of hearing.

The Progressives, she said, were known as the Cafeteria Party because of the fact that they made a habit of using the cafeteria which was for the House of Commons police and staff.

The Prime Minister she described as a man of considerable social charm. He never answered Mr. Meighen but in his replies made speeches which would make a greater impression with the public.

Lean and Melancholy

Mr. Meighen she described as long, lean and melancholy. She thought he had the finest analytical mind in Canada, but he was a little cruel. He liked to turn the rapier after he had plunged it in. He was lacking in the human side and did not men—not even his own men.

The Hon. W. S. Fielding she described as the most generally respected man in the House and the only man able to combat Mr. Meighen on the spur of the moment.

Sir Lomer Gouin she described as ultra conservative and inscrutable, but always conveying the impression of great power.

Dr. Tolmie brought a breath of lovely Victoria sunshine, she said, and received a good reception from both sides.

C. H. Dickie, the member for Nanaimo, she described as a clever and effective speaker.

Her two years had convinced her that Canada's need to-day was a leader. It needed to get away from the petty system of contracting and opposing what the other fellow wanted to do. She urged the encouragement of the gift of leadership in their own circles.

EDWARD PEARSON, J.P., CARIBOO PIONEER AND BUSINESS MAN DIES

Edward Pearson, J.P., a pioneer business man of the city, and one of the band of adventurers who joined in the gold rush to the Cariboo, passed away yesterday at the advanced age of eighty-seven years at his home on South Turner Street. He came to this Province in 1862 by way of Cape Horn from his home in Stockport, England. Immediately leaving for the Cariboo, Mr. Pearson operated an express from Yale to Barkerville over the old wagon road for some time.

Later he came to Victoria and established the hardware and tinsmithing business under the firm name of Clark and Pearson, only relinquishing his active association with it on his retirement ten years ago, on account of failing health.

The late Mr. Pearson is survived by his widow and one niece, Miss Pearson. The remains are reposing at the B. C. Funeral Chapel, and arrangements will be announced later. It is particularly requested that no flowers be sent.

MacLEAN TO RAISE STANDARD OF B.C. SCHOOL TEACHERS

Lean explained. In the future they must attend for two terms of fifteen weeks each. During the first term, September to December, they will receive training at the normal and model schools. During the second term, January to May, they will attend the British Columbia University, and one or two of the night schools in Vancouver will be used as model schools.

A tuition fee of $40—$20 for each term—is now being charged each normal school student.

More Students

The number of students in attendance at the normal schools in British Columbia last year exceeded by 152 the number enrolled the previous year, Dr. MacLean announced. In all, 687 students—155 men and 534 women—were enrolled in the two normal schools, 320 in Vancouver and 269 in Victoria. Of the total number enrolled, 31 failed, 25 withdrew before the end of the year, 72 were granted interim certificates and 563 were recommended for permanent certificates.

Last year was the first time in which interim certificates were issued. Previously permanent certificates were granted to all students whose work was not classed as poor by the normal school teachers. Under the new arrangement, students whose work is wholly unsatisfactory are not granted certificates of any class, while students whose work is not above "fair" are issued interim certificates valid for two years. Before the holders of such certificates are given permanent standing they must show by actual teaching during the time their certificates are in force, that they posses adaptability for class-room work, Dr. MacLean explained.

Long before the fashion of outdoor sports, Pond's knew these two skin essentials

Two things a woman's skin must have in order never to betray fatigue and the effects of weather—

First—the kind of cleansing that not only keeps for you always the charm of fresh transparent skin but in addition, daily restores your skin's essential suppleness.

Second—the kind of protection that not only never fails but actually beautifies—that by its special property renews each time the smooth freshness of youth under the powder and rouge.

For years Pond's centered their whole effort on this vital problem for women until they finally perfected two entirely different creams to meet these two requirements—Pond's Cold Cream and Pond's Vanishing Cream.

First appreciated by the women who tax their skin most—the actress and the sportswoman—today millions of women are using the famous Pond's method to offset the coarsening of everyday exposure. Buy both creams tonight in jars or tubes at 50 cents each at drug or departmental stores. The Pond's Extract Co., 146 Brock Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

Try this famous method

Every night or whenever you come in from an outing—With the finger tips apply Pond's Cold Cream freely. The very fine oil in it softens your skin and penetrates every pore. Let it stay on a min—now wipe it off with a soft cl The black that comes off shows how carefully this cream cleans. Do this twice. Your skin looks fresh and is wonderfully supple.

From charming Peggy Wood—"I have always had the best results from using Pond's Two Creams."

The powder is even and smooth over this flawless base. The compliments of your friends will prove to you how wonderful for your skin these Two Creams are.*

Calgary, Oct. 25.—It is practically certain that from $50,000 to $70,000 will be spent next year on the reconstruction of the road from Calgary to Banff and from $800,0000 to $1,000,000 on four of the roads in Alberta, according to C. # CATTLE TRADE TO BE DISCUSSED AT LONDON CONFERENCE

London, Oct. 25.—To-morrow, when the Empire Economic Conference takes the importation of livestock under consideration, Canada will have representations to make. It is claimed that while the British embargo on Canadian cattle has been removed, the regulations under which they are admitted interfere with their access to the British market.

Taxation

The Economic Conference yesterday laid down the important principle that State enterprises owned by any country of the Empire will be liable to taxation the same as private concerns in any other country in the Empire in which such State enterprises may be doing business.

Thus, if Great Britain or any Dominion conducts a State enterprise the other Dominions will be entitled to treat it as a private company in matters of taxation when doing business within the territory of such Dominions. Reciprocally, Great Britain will have the same right with respect to Dominion State enterprises.

Shipping

Another principle accepted by the conference was that State shipping should be on a par with the shipping of private companies with regard to proceedings for the performance of contracts and so forth.

These principles were unanimously accepted, though Hon. G. P. Graham, for Canada, and Premier Bruce of Australia made provisos. It must be distinctly understood, said Mr. Graham, that nothing in any convention should interfere with the right of each Dominion to deal with the question of taxation so far as it had power in its own territory, and, secondly, nothing must even be implied which would suggest any interference with the rights of the Canadian Provinces to deal with questions of taxation coming under their jurisdiction.

He observed that each of the Canadian Provinces had, or might have, property in London and any arrangements in regard thereto must be made directly with the Provincial Government concerned.

Premier Bruce took similar ground with respect to the rights of the Australian States.

London, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press cable)—Alluding to a recent reference by Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Minister of Health, to the danger of 1,500,000 tons of steel being dumped into Great Britain from the Ruhr, Sir Hugh Bell, ironmaster and colliery owner, expressed himself as very skeptical about the existence of such huge stocks. Even if true, he said, it would be equally prejudicial to the British industry whether it came to Great Britain or not.

Sir Hugh suggested that it would be good business to buy this steel if it could be used at a profit.

CLASMIC CLAY THE MODERN COMPLEXION TREATMENT

The remarkable vogue of clay as an aid to complexion beauty is one of those developments that first surprise us and then as we think over them cause us to wonder why someone has not discovered them long ago.

After all while beauty is often accounted but skin deep, it must be obvious that unless that skin is healthy even to its depths—the surface cannot be healthy and radiant. Even as beauty of character, to which the foregoing phrase refers, requires moral virtues that are deeper than mere superficial suavity, a charming complexion and a blooming and youthful loveliness depend upon a healthy skin and a clear skin right down to the depths of the pores. Cosmetics and the usual soaps are largely superficial in their effects, whereas the benefits of facial clay go right down to the source of complexion troubles.

Alas! The clever slogan (and true) of the household varnish manufacturers "Save the surface and you save all" can never apply to Milady's complexion, although some manufacturers of toiletries would have you think so.

The old belief that earth has a certain restoring power has much to support it. The Mud Baths of the famous Spas are renowned for cures effected by their medicinal potency. The earth contiguous to these springs has absorbed the curative properties of the mineral waters and possesses the same benefits as the Spa waters themselves. This mud is recognized by the medical profession as valuable in the science of Balno-therapeutics. Facial blemishes respond quickly to clay treatment: Most women nowadays are familiar with the clay pack as a complexion treatment, but I wonder if you realize that Boncilla Beautified is the original, genuine, clasmic clay, and that Boncilla really marks the beginning of clay packs.

Boncilla Beautifier is a blue-grey clay of remarkable purity. It is compounded with rare East India balsams, producing a clay that is finer, softer, smoother, than you would imagine clay could be made.

Once or twice a week, or oftener, the complexion needs Boncilla Beautifier. When you come home tired and weary, after a hard day at the office, perhaps, or a tiring afternoon of shopping, a Boncilla Beautifier Face Pack is the most refreshing stimulant in the world to rest you for the evening's engagements.

Just spread Boncilla Beautifier over the face and neck, and allow it to dry. Lie down, if you can, and relax—the wonderful, rejuvenating action of Boncilla begins the instant it touches your face. Its liquid balsam portion is absorbed by the pores, penetrating to their depths, bathing them with a refreshing, invigorating stimulus, cleansing them of every impurity, stimulating sluggish circulation and building up sagging facial muscles.

When Boncilla Beautifier is dry, remove it with a wet towel. One look in the mirror and you will be positively thrilled at the improvement in your appearance. Your skin will look alive, radiant, refreshed. Tired lines are gone; drooping muscles are firm, young. Blemishes have disappeared, and the texture of your skin is soft and fine and smooth.

Boncilla Beautifier is sold by all drug and department stores, but if you have never tried Boncilla write to Canadian Boncilla Laboratories, Limited, 590 King Street West, mentioning this paper and they will mail you FREE a generous sized trial tube—more than enough to show what remarkable complexion beauty Boncilla can accomplish for you.

SHADOW OF DEATH IS OVER PIONEER OF OREGON TRAIL

Ezra Meeker is Well-Known Here; Historian of Famous Trail

The oldest of the Washington pioners, Ezra Meeker, who at the age of ninety-three is reported to be in a critical condition at Seattle, is very well-known in Victoria, where he has frequently visited for historical occasions, and to meet old friends here.

He became widely known for his remarkable trip in 1906 when at the age of seventy-six he drove a prairie schooner over the trail which he traveled as a young married man in 1852 amid great hardships and dangers. He is also the historian of the Oregon Trail, famed in song and story for its picturesque history.

His Career

Ezra Meeker was born of New England stock at Huntsville, Hamilton County, Ohio, on December 2, 1830, his father being Joseph R. Meeker, who had married Pheobe Baker. When Ezra was a boy of nine the family moved to Franklin County, and in 1841 went to Indianapolis, where he attended the common schools for a short time. After that his education was confined entirely to reading newspapers. In 1851 he went to Iowa and on May 13 of that year he married Eliza L. Sumner.

He later decided to make his pioneer trip to the Pacific coast. He outfitted at Eddyville with his young wife and baby, the ox team consisting of one wagon with two yoke of four-year-old steers, one yoke of cows and one extra calf. The cow was the only loss during the trip.

The party effected a crossing of the Missouri River near where is situated Council Bluffs, Iowa, by means of a scow, and made the passage by way of the North Platte and the Bear River to Fort Hall, thence down the Snake River and the Columbia to Portland, Oregon, where they arrived on October 25, 1852.

The story is told in his book, "The Ox Team, or the Old Oregon Trail, 1852-1906."

Hardships of Route

At least ten per cent. of those who made the journey in calvacade formation for the purpose of mutual protection never reached their destination. The trial of the immigrants as the teams became weaker and the ravages of the cholera took their toll is graphically told by Mr. Meeker.

While thre was considerable danger from Indians they were not so unfortunate as some of the unhappy parties that crossed the prairies at that time, who were set upon and almost exterminated by the savages.

Mr. Meeker bears testimony to the everlasting dust as the ox teams made their way across the prairie and through the mountain fastnesses. Always there proceeded an advance party to spy out the land for water, grass and fuel, the three essentials. The immigrants dealt out summary justice, and one man was hanged in course of the journey. The Council of Elders then made provision for the wagon of the executed man to be driven by another, and his wife and children were safely delivered to the journey's end.

Mr. Meeker's party spent a week resting at Portland. Then they went to St. Helen's, and remained three months. Hhe staked a claim at the site of Kalama, Washington, and then sold out and came to Puget Sound, by ox team to Olympia. He settled at Steilacoom in 1853, engaging in merchandizing. In 1862 he moved to Puyallup, where he homesteaded, and devoted himself particularly to the raising of hops. After a short period in partnership with his father in 1868 he resumed his business as a merchant, which he conducted to 1884, when he sold out. He renewed his interest in hop growing by becoming president of a company formed at Puyallup in 1891.

The Trail of 1906

The state government of Washington employed him extensively as commissioner at various exhibitions. It was while taking part in the Lewis and Clark Exhibition at Portland that he conceived the idea of going back with an ox team over the route. Although seventy-six years of age at the time in 1906, he determined to go, leaving Puyallup. He eventually achieved his object, succeeding in having monuments placed at intervals along the route to mark the track of pioneers. The wagon contained part of the original vehicle in which the transported his family in 1852. It was no light task for a man of seventy-six years to undertake, and his fame was sounded in every city from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Mr. Meeker has not only achieved fame as a pioneer of the neighboring state, but has written most entertaining books dealing with the lives of pioneers, and has also paid a tribute of a cherished remembrance to those who laid their bones in the wilderness side by side with the oxen.

Mrs. Bothwell Is Frank

Mrs. Bothwell has been cooking for a crew of men in a shingle bolt camp and mill. From her letter we gather that the mill owner allowed her to purchase anything she liked for the men. She always bought Pacific Milk until the improvement—the 45% cream—made the price slightly higher, then she changed. But the men complained. She thought the price had advanced because everyone was using it and when she went back to Pacific it was not because she wanted to—"and then discovered that it is really twice as nice as before." We appreciate such letters from our patrons.

PRESBYTERIANS OPPOSED TO UNION MEET TO-MORROW

Meetings Are Planned to Organize For Continuance of Church

Presbyterians who are unfavorable to Church Union appear to have become aroused by the recent meetings held in this city when the advocates of union set forth their views. They have planned a campaign for the purpose of informing the public why the Presbyterian Church should be continued. To that end a meeting of all those in sympathy with the preservation of the Presbyterian Church will be held in St. Paul's Church, Victoria West, on Friday evening next at 8 o'clock, when prominent church workers will address the gathering. The chief speaker will be the Rev. W. F. McConnell who has recently been appointed Dominion organizer for the Presbyterian Church Association. Mr. McConnell is making a tour of Western Canada and has been addressing meetings at the various centres. The most recent of these was in Calgary where the synod of Alberta has just closed its annual meeting. Opponents of union have been greatly encouraged by the vote of the Alberta Synod, when by the narrow margin of four the union advocates carried their point. In view of this the anti's say it is a sufficient answer to those who claim that opposition to union in Western Canada is non-existent. They also say that every vote shows an increasing body of opinion against the movement. In support of that they point to the vote of 1915, as compared to that in 1911, when the opposition increased by 23,000 making a total vote of 73,000 against union. It is now felt that the issue has reached the final stage, where it is no longer possible to maintain a neutral attitude.

On Sunday next Mr. McConnell will speak in St. Andrew's Church at 11 a.m. and in St. Columba Church at 7.30 p.m. On both occasions he will deal with the need for the preservation of the Presbyterian Church.

S. M. Clements, Dean of Agriculture of the University of British Columbia, will speak on industrial combination in the afternoon, to be followed by an address on the potato industry by C. Tice, of the Department of Agriculture. Colonel R. Davis, of the Land Settlement Board, will give an illustrated talk on Central British Columbia. H. G. Perry, M.P.P., will also speak.

Friday the judging competition will be held in the morning. In the afternoon Prof. Boving will speak on root and seed production. G. M. Stewart, District Seed Inspector for Calgary, Alberta, will speak on the inspection and sale of seeds, and A. McMearns, Dominion Seed Inspector, will speak on the seed situation in British Columbia. J. Travis, manager of the United Growers, Penticton, will speak on seed production and marketing. In the evening a banquet will be held at which the presentation of the prizes will take place. The Provincial Minister of Agriculture will speak and George I. Warren will give an illustrated lecture on Vancouver Island. An entertainment and dance will follow.

Saturday a special meeting of seed growers will be held and a general meeting of potato growers to discuss organization. Saturday evening an address will be given by W. C. Edmundson of Colorado.

Cantata Heard by Appreciative Audience at First Congregational Church

One of the most active church choirs of the community is the choir of the First Congregational Church. This body of singers during each Winter season gives two or more cantatas, and some well-known choruses, in addition to the monthly Sunday evening extended music programmes. A great deal of their prevailing enthusiasm redounds to the credit of their able and energetic conductor, Frederick King, who for many years has contributed much to the musical life of this church.

Preceding the work given last evening in the church before a large and interested audience, there were three numbers, an unaccompanied version of the Lord's Prayer and Braham's stately fugal chorde, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," and the familiar and favorite quartet, "God Is a Spirit" (Sterndale Bennett), sang by the soloists of the evening, Mrs. A. W. Stokes, Miss Ethel Edwards, George Guy and Percy Edmonds.

The Selected Cantata

The work selected was the cantata, "The Holy City," by A. P. Gaul, written especially for the historic Birmingham festivals. This cantata is almost entirely deflective, and is divided into two parts, both of which are suggested by passages of Scripture; indeed the whole words throughout being entirely Scriptural. It opens with an interesting prologue, after which begins the contemplative introduction for the organ, then the tenor solo, quartette and chorus, "No Shadows Yonder," the air, "My Soul Is Athirst for God," and again later the ario for tenor voice, "To the Lord Our God," both being admirably given by George Guy, who for some time has been associated with the excellent work of this choir with eminent success. The trio in the opening numbers, "At Eventide It Shall Be Light," by Mrs. Patterson, another familiar figure; Mrs. Handbridge and Mrs. Smith, was well done, and was followed by the chorus, "They That Sow in Tears," written in pastorale style, was an excellent example of the capabilities of the chorus singers. In this there were precison and promptitude in all sections, and there were, too, capital results achieved in tone balances, throughout in the other choruses, "For Thee, O Dear, Dear Country," in the emphatic "There Is the Kingdom," in "Let the Heavens Rejoice" and in the spirited concluding chorus, "Great and Marvelous Are Thy Works." The chorus for female voices, "Holy, Holy, Holy," was also effectively rendered.

Mrs. A. W. Stokes

The parts assigned to the soprano voice were in the hands of one of the favorite singers of the city, Mrs. A. W. Stokes, and her accomplishment last evening was of a very high order. Her singing is characterized by excellent diction, clearness of passages, studiously phrased and an impressiveness that conveys itself to her hearers. Her solo, "These Are They," was one of the outstanding features of the evening. The duet that succeded this aria, "They Shall Hunger No More," by this singer and the contralto, Miss Edwards, was pretty indeed and well delivered. The contralto, Miss Edwards, another member of the choir, did excellently. Possessed of a beautiful voice she sang with charm and discretion, and the aira, "Eye Hast Not Seen," was delightful.

Percy Edmonds

The baritone, a new singer in music circles, was Percy Edmonds. He has a splendid voice which he uses with great promise, and his singing of the fine air, "Thus Said the Lord," created a distinct impression. Truly inspirational were his passages "and there shall be no more sorrow, no more crying and no more pain," the singer entering into the spirit of both theme and works with unusual aplomb and understanding.

Miss Scowcroft

Much praise is due the organist, Miss Winnifred Scowcroft. She evinced much skill and perception in the organ numbers, the "introduction" and "adoration," and accompanied throughout must adequately and with tone musicianly instincts.

Conductor King again scored another musical achievement.

The collection at the door was in aid of the Japanese Earthquake Relief Fund.

VANCOUVER BRIDGE SCENE OF SUICIDE

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Gazing into English Bay from the Granville Street bridge here last night, Axel Eriksen remarked to a passerby, "Guess I belong down there," and leaped over the railing. His body was recovered. He was a cannery employee thirty-two years old, with no relations in this city. He left $750 in savings. His motive for suicide is not known.

KNOCKING THE LEAGUE

Some of the commentators on international affairs are advancing a number of novel reasons why the League of Nations is not yet able to enforce its decrees to the extent that such an organization must eventually do if it is to fulfill the hope which humanity has for it.

To the suggestion that it will not be able to function on the grand scale, until our neighbor to the South and Russia and Germany are members of the League, a writer in The Empire Review replies with the query as to why the organization "has striven so feebly to draw those potential partners in." He declares without in the least attempting to explain his reasoning that "instead of an apparent partisanship of murder in Greece, it might have wrought to win back the United States or to reconcile the Allies to the return of Russia." Or, "better still," he continues, "it might have given Europe a lead over the issue of the Ruhr."

Either the writer in question is hopelessly out of touch with the American point of view or else he is aimlessly floundering about in a mass of objection to the League and is willing to grab the first suggestion that comes to hand for his purpose. There is no mention of the visit of Lord Robert Cecil to the United States—than whom there could have been no more eloquent pleader in behalf of a cause to which he is devoting the majority of his wakeful hours—and not the slightest regard is paid for the traditional policy which it is apparent our neighbor will continue to follow in respect of international matters, at least as far as Continental Europe is concerned, until there shall be more manifest on the part of many nations an inclination to spend money on implements of production instead of destruction.

It is not explained by the writer how the League of Nations could have persuaded France from a course that the Treaty of Versailles defines to a greater or lesser degree. The Ruhr situation is obviously the exceptional case and has arisen out of the bad faith of which the instigator of the war has been persistently guilty ever since the armistice. Will it be argued that the League of Nations should use its offices to produce a sentiment in favor of letting Germany off because French action might savor of the very thing that the League is hoping to avert? French action in the Ruhr stands alone and it has yet to be proven wrong. When Germany and Russia are to be trusted they will be welcomed by the League.

Such attacks will not damage the League. They merely represent that element which grows impatient of practically everything constructive unless it can achieve perfection in five minutes. The attitude is typical of the old school of diplomacy that has relied for centuries upon a plan of force because it involved no new formulas but became operative immediately. And it will take some time and considerable patience to convert members of this school into progressive ways. They are not even impressed with the settlement of the Italo-Greek episode because the League found it necessary and desirable to employ means of pacification that to some extent differed from the method prescribed in the Covenant. But even they will see the force of the argument eventually.

FORTY YEARS OLD

How its first issue forty years ago was produced in a tent and how it has grown into one of the greatest of Canadian dailies is the interesting narrative which The Calgary Herald tells about itself in a huge anniversary number of forty pages. As far as the actual issue is concerned it would be difficult to find among all the records of Alberta progress a more readable history of general development or a more complete collection of comprehensive and diversified information than is contained in such a comparatively small compass. To the newspaper reader in general, and particularly to readers who belong to the journalistic profession, the modern anniversary edition is becoming increasingly valuable as a work of reference which the general public files away. In the case of The Herald's celebration number all those who have taken a part in its compilation and production may be justly proud of their outstanding achievement. It can go into the archives of Canadian journalism and take its place among other newspaper triumphs with which the name of Southam is associated. The Times joins with its many contemporaries in warmest congratulations to The Herald and its owners.

SERVING HUMANITY

During the first month of the experiment the Government of Ontario distributed insulin free to one hundred and sixty-one needy sufferers from diabetes. Fifteen laboratories performed the service and insulin to the extent of 114,000 units was dispensed. The cost involved did not exceed $2,281 for the whole month.

There is matter for considerable gratification in this announcement Canadians everywhere will take pardonable pride in the fact that the discovery of a native son has made this service to suffering humanity possible. The example which the Ontario Government has set might well be emulated by other Provinces. In any case Dr. Banting could wish for no better recognition of his discovery than that which enables his own Province to relieve this phase of distress and suffering free of charge.

RATHER THIN

Advices from London announce that Scotch distilleries have recently paid high prices for full page advertisements in some of the weekly magazines for the express purpose of informing the whisky-drinking population of the Old Country that "so long as America and other export markets are willing to pay extra for quality we prefer to sell for exportation." Consequently "consumers may have to face occasional shortages in their favorite brands."

Coming on the eve of the vote in Scotland the element of humor is easily discernible in such an advertisement. For it is difficult to imagine that the possible tastes of a fair number of people among a population of 47,000,000 are going to be ignored because the hard headed distillers of Scotland prefer to serve prohibition and partial prohibition countries. How would it be if one said that the advertisements in question look as if they were intended to discredit prohibition and influence the voter?

Note and Comment

The people of North Winnipeg did what was expected of them only they did it as if they really meant it. Mr. McMurray completely snowed under all his adversaries in spite of the comparatively small poll.

It has been decided to double the guard which keeps the Kaiser from doing anything more than ordinarily stupid. The latest suggestion is that his wife is keeping her eye on the possibility of becoming an Empress. Even blundering Germany will not blunder William's way again.

Germany need not try to extract an overload of consolation from the speech of Premier Smuts. The South African Prime Minister does not intend that the debtor shall get off without payment; he is merely anxious lest events should take a turn that would greatly minimize the prospects of collection at all.

Mr. Bowser says the confidence of investors must be restored. He is behind the times; the present Administration has restored the confidence which his regime almost shattered. All he has to do to confirm this contention is to go to his own constituency and acquaint himself with the interest that American and British industrialists are manifesting in Vancouver and in the Province generally.

We are informed by The Colonist that British Columbia "has not had constructive leadership for a number of years." Are we to take it that the morning paper is ready to suggest that if Mr. Bowser were to be given charge of the people's business he would once more give us that leadership which made his term of office such a "conspicuous success?" Surely nobody has forgotten how the people of this Province signified their approval of Mr. Bowser's leadership in 1916.

Low gurgling laughter, as sweet

Our Contemporaries

A COLD DOUCHE

Vancouver World:—One of the things upon which boards of trade and other interested organizations have prided themselves in the past was the fact that the press of British Columbia stood solidly behind the Government in its fight for equalization of freight rates. Even the prairie press as far east as Manitoba warmly supported the claims of this Province. Evidently this solid phalanx is to be broken by the defection of one of the Victoria newspapers. The Colonist in an editorial a few days ago, after referring to the unsatisfactory limitation of reduced rates to grain for export purposes, says: "On the whole, it is possible that Premier Oliver is not displeased with this situation. He probably is in no hurry to have the question of railway rates finally settled. It is just possible that he prefers a grievance to a settlement. A grievance skilfully used can serve a political purpose. In this case the grievance affects the most populous part of the Province. It can be used for the purpose of affecting votes, and a general election must be held before very long." Those who suggest political motives in the present emergency will discover that the people of British Columbia are as capable of making deductions as others disposed to adopt this antiquated method of making political capital. It is late in the day to weaken the hands of the Government by a defection which can work only harm to the city from which such propaganda emanates.

VICTORIA GARDENS INSPIRE PAINTER

Pictures at Arts and Craft Display Show Beauty of City's Flowers

The beautiful gardens of Victoria, Canada's "Garden City," form the subject of some of the most interesting pictures on display at the Island Arts and Crafts Club's annual exhibition in the Hudson's Bay Company's store. The painter of the fine set of garden pictures on view, Mrs. A. E. M. Paget, has found a subject which evidently appealed strongly to her and which she handles with perfect facility. Her water-colors, with their crispness of handling and careful drawing, are attracting great attention at the exhibition.

Mrs. Paget spent many weeks during the last Summer in some of the finest of the city's gardens. By patiently waitng for the flowers to reach their maturity, she was able to find subjects which would delight any painter. Nowhere on this continent, perhaps, could the water-colorist have found more beautiful garden views than in Victoria and Mrs. Paget has done them full justice.

Among the subjects of Mrs. Paget's pictures is F. B. Pemberton's superb garden at his home on Foul Bay Road. The rich growth of native dog tooth violets or "lilies" there is well handled in Mrs. Paget's pictures. Alderman J. H. Gillespie's beautiful garden on Fairfield Road is well portrayed by Mrs. Paget. Mr. John Hutchison's enormous collection of rock and Alpine plants in his gardens at Rockhome, on Wilmer Street, forms the subject of some of the best of Mrs. Paget's pictures, in which the charm of artistically-built rockeries is presented with evident understanding and appreciation.

TRAGIC THEME ON PLAYHOUSE BOARDS

"The Bells," Sir Henry Irving Classic, Again Presented by Compton Players

The role of Mathias, immortalized by Sir Henry Irving, is most realistically portrayed by Francis Compton at the Playhouse, where "The Bells" is again being staged by the Compton Players.

At the opening performance of this famous melodrama last night, the presentation of "The Bells" was most enthusiastically received by a large audience. All the characters in this tragic tale are finely sustained by the talented members of the local stock company. The scenic efforts are excellent.

An additional atraction is offered in the one-act comedy, "The Boatswain's Mate," from the pen of W. W. Jacobs.

From the first act to the last in the presentation of "The Bells" the audience last night was gripped by the tense dramatic situations.

The court scene was the climax to the whole play, and herein lay the success of Francis Compton's appearance during the entire three acts.

Miss Agnes Burton took and admirable part as Mathias' wife, while Peggy Dundas took the role of his daughter cleverly and was ably supported by Clifford Winterson as her finance. George Durham appeared as the mesmerist, the instigator of Mathias' troubles, while Herbert Leslie appear as Walter, a man of the village. His role was important inasmuch as it falls to his lot to recall the memories of the Polish Winter, and he performs this part in a fluent manner.

Hans is interpreted by George Durham, while minor roles of Tony and Karl are taken by Wilfred Hill and George Fenton respectively. George Fenton is seen later in the play as clerk of the court. G. Gibson-Gunn appears as Dr. Zimmer.

The court scene called for elocution and in this capacity Francis Compton, Herbert Leslie and George Durham made the most of their talents. George Fenton appeared as clerk of the court.

In the presentation of the comedy, "The Boatswain's Mate," Miss Agnes Burton displays her talent to the best advantage, while Herbert Leslie would appeal to the author as an admirable boatswain.

George Durham, a discharged soldier, plays his role to perfection.

With "The Bells" holding the boards at the Playhouse for the reminder of the week, the popular Yates Street house should hold crowded houses for the remainder of the week.

Less Vibration
with this
Non-Detonating Gasoline

There's a marked difference in the way gasolines explode.

One kind detonates—a crash against the piston head delivers all the power in a single blow.

These sudden blows, repeated, cause vibration, increasing wear and tear.

And detonating gasoline limits compression by its tendency to explode prematurely.

Thus a loss of power and efficiency in your motor result.

More Power, Prolonged

Union is non-detonating gasoline. The explosion is prolonged, sustained. Piston heads are thrust rather than "kicked" down. You'll find a new "lift" on hills and no "knocking."

Non-detonating gasoline permits of higher compression, for as all authorities know, compression is limited by the tendency of a gasoline to detonate. So more power is delivered by Union Gasoline. You find a new rush in the pickup and more speed on the level.

Impulses come more smoothly, so there's less vibration—this saves wear and tear.

And all this higher efficiency means greater fuel economy. So Union Non-Detonating Gasoline delivers superior service in several important ways.

Union is always uniform. It doesn't disintegrate, thus doesn't deteriorate in storage. It has all the power when you use it that it has when it leaves the Union plants.

P.G.E. SERVICE MUCH IMPROVED

MacLean Policies Add to Efficiency of Railway Hanes Finds

People living along the line of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway are delighted with improvements in the railway's service under the direction of Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Railways, according to Gorge Hanes, Independent member for North Vancouver, who visited the Parliament Buildings to-day.

"The service on the line has improved wonderfully," said Mr. Hanes, who has just returned from an inspection of the southern end of the railway. "The people who live along the line are now much more satisfied with conditions than they were a short time ago. They were now getting really satisfactory service. A sleeping car has been put into operation, and you can travel on the line in comfort now."

Mr. Hanes will come here Sunday for the opening of the House Monday.

SCHOOL COSTS AS ELECTION WEAPON

Refute Statement of Higher Educational Costs in Victoria

As is customary when municipal elections loom up, the problem of the cost of education beings to attract attention. In Vancouver, where the situation is enlivened by an active ratepayers' protective association allusion has been made to the cost of education, it being declared that Vancouver fares unsatisfactorily as compared with Victoria.

Now a rejoinder has been issued by Municipal Inspector J. S. Gordon, of Vancouver, which places the situation in Victoria in an unsatisfactory light, according to the opinion held by those familiar with Victoria school costs. The allegation is made that in this city the cost per capita is $2.06 more than in Vancouver.

Some Discrepancy

A scrutiny of the figures at the City School Board office here to-day, with the last year's reports both for Vancouver and Victoria to hand, shows that Mr. Gordon has not given credit for the sundry receipts which the Victoria board receives from the Arts College fees, the payment for Saanich pupils in the High School, and similar services.

Mr. Gordon points out in his reply to the Associated Property Owners' Association, issued by request of the chairman of the board, Dr. F. J. Nicholson, that the total cost of the Vancouver schools was $1,641,522 in 1922, with an enrolment of 19,485, as compared with the cost of $563,927 for the Victoria schools in the same year, with an enrolment of 6,531.

Out of that sum Vancouver is paying $213,432.52 per annum for interest and sinking fund, while Victoria is paying $94,612.11 on similar charges. In other words Victoria pays sixteen per cent of her educational levy to fixed charges, while Vancouver gets off with twelve per cent.

The Victoria schools are entitled to sundry credits of $19,280.09 which are not allowed for in Mr. Gordon's estimate, and this difference on division by the number of pupils, would wipe ou the margin of advantage claimed on the mainland city. In other words it would cut the per capita down by $2.95, as against $2.06 claimed in favor of Vancouver.

The official Vancouver report shows the per capita cost in the public schools at $60.31 as against $58.59 in Victoria, while the High School cost in Vancouver is set at $108.18 per capita as against $127.68 here, though there are factors in the Vancouver High School figures which make this comparison unfair, as compared with that in this city.

Vancouver gives a junior high school service, and also carries domestic science and manual training into higher classes than in the case in Victoria.

HEAD OF GAME BOARD SAYS B.C. HAS BEST GAME

Beaumont Boggs Quotes Figures on Fox Farming on Island

Metchosin, Oct. 24.—Another interesting meeting was held last evening in the Metchosin Hall, under the auspices of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute, a good attendance being again recorded.

The chair was taken by the president, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, who introduced the speaker, M. B. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., chairman of the B. C. Game Board, and Beaumont Boggs, who took the platform first.

Fox Farming

Mr. Boggs opened his address with the remarks that "on the Island we have beautiful scenery and magnificent views, but as the aim of the majority is to make sufficient money to live comfortably and provide for old age, we must have more than these. We must have employment and markets for our produce," went on the speaker, and quoted the generan saying that "the development of the city made for the growth of the country district," though in the speaker's opinion the positions were reversed, "the growth and development of the rural districts made the city grow."

The speaker pointed out as instances of endeavor in profitable agricultural industries, the fruit-growing in the Gordon Head district, and the creamery at Duncan and Cowichan, but he suggested that the profit in fox farming had been overlooked, and urged the development of the industry as being particularly profitable. Mrs. Beaumont Boggs has a fox farm near the city, and Mr. Boggs gave instances of the high prices paid by a London firm for fox furs shipped from his wife's farm, as high as $760 being paid for a single pelt.

"It is a fact," said the speaker, "that the pelt of the captive fox brings a higher price than the wild fox, and the best fur does not come from the cold dry climate, as seems to be the general idea, the fur in such climates being usually of a coarser quality than the fur of foxes raised in a more humid climte."

Mr. Boggs gave information regarding the breeding of foxes. The Dominion Government, recognizing the importance of this industry, has appointed an official expert, who will give all necessary information and advice to the prospective fox farmer.

The care of foxes and their habits were fully explained by the speaker, and the estimate of the cost of feed per annum, which did not exceed $5, was given. Mr. Morrison, who had a fox farm for some years in Alberta, is now carrying on the industry near Royal Oak, come out here at Mr. Boggs's suggestion, although receiving many discouraging opinions from others, and finds that he can raise just as good and valuable pelts here as in Alberta.

Mr. Boggs stated that fox farmers were asking for legislation to be passed to protect the foxes from dogs. Their request is "that they be allowed to shoot any dog found within 300 feet of a pen."

Mr. Boggs answered a number of questions.

Mr. Jackson stated that "no one can acquire rights to wild game, it is common property," and even fox farms are run under a permit from the Game Board. He agreed that pheasants did considerable damage to crops, but on the other hand, said Mr. Jackson, "I have extracted from a pheasant's crop some thousands of noxious wed seeds.' Taking all in all Mr. Jackson gave his opinion where a pheasant might do 40 cents worth of damage to crops, he saved the farmer 60 cents by his destruction of insect pests.

The speaker stated that on investigating complaints of damage by pheasants, he found most of the damage had been to small produce, and not to larger areas. He described the quail as a marvellous aid to the farmer, and also spoke of the Willow Grouse.

The B. C. Game Board was instituting game reserves in various parts of British Columbia for the continued preservation of game, Mr. Jackson stated. He asserted that ninety-five per cent of the game on the North American continent had been exterminated, and British Columbia was the only part of the continent that had preserved its game to any extent. British Columbia is now looked to by big game hunters as the only worth while country, Africa and India having been overdone, and are no longer the premier game countries.

The speaker spoke of the trapping of Muskrats.

A very sincere and hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speakers on motion of H. G. Pierce, seconded by R. I. Van-der-Byl, and the meeting adjourned for refreshments.

At the next meeting which will be held on Tuesday, October 30, E. M. Straight, director of the Experimental Station at Sidney, will speak on "Profitable Lines of Agriculture on Vancouver Island," and the question of a pound area will be debated.

WEST ROAD PAVING OPEN TO HEALS

Pushing north the gradual extension of the West Road paving in Saanich, the Council with Government assistance has now completed to the hill just north of Heal's station on the Interurban line. A little has been done from year to year as Government grants became available.

Owing to the great volume of traffic to the Benvenuto gardens, in which the West as well as the East road participates, the paving of this section has more than a locality interest.

NARROWS BRIDGE MAY BE LINKED WITH THE P.G.E.

Engineers Ask That Strength of Vancouver Viaduct be Increased

Promoters of the Second Narrows Bridge from Vancouver to North Vancouver, lead by Jack Loutet, Secretary of the Burrard Bridge and Tunnel Company, discussed the construction of the new viaduct with Premier Hon. John Oliver and Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, this morning.

At this morning's conference Government engineers urged that the new bridge should be built to carry a weight of fifteen tons instead of ten tons as planned at present. The Provincial Government has agreed to contribute $100,000 towards the cost of the project providing its engineers approve the bridge plans, Premier Oliver explained after his meeting with the bridge promoters.

The possibility of connecting the Pacific Great Eastern Railway up with the northern end of the new bridge also was discussed at this morning's conference. Mr. Oliver wanted to know what provision had been made for this connection.

General principles only were discussed to-day, the Premier stated this afternoon. He added that the Government would give careful consideration to the representations of the bridge promoters.

Trustees of Motor Camp to Report to City Council

The Curtis Point Motor camp having completed a successful season, the committee of business men, F. Waring, W. J. Clubb, and H. P. Johnson, who have been trustees on behalf of the City Council will report to that body in Public Works Committee to-morrow.

As it is estimated at the conservative figure of $15 per day per car that the city had benefitted directly to the extent of $45,000, the value of the camp to the city, apart from the convenience to motorists, can be readily appreciated.

The camp handled nineteen cars in May, 128 in June, 590 in July, 661 in August, and 111 in September, a total of 1,509 cars.

Nearly two-thirds of them were registered in the states of Washington (658) and California (276), but most of the Canadian provinces, and states of the Union were also represented.

The average length of stay was two days, and the number of persons per car, 3.35.

Dr. E. W. Butler, who described himself "as innocent as a child" of any intentional wrongdoing, was fined $5 for trusting to an arc light to shed sufficient light on his motor car after dusk. A tail light was preferable, remarked the court.

Albert Mar, charged on remand with overtaking a street car, stopped for passengers, was further remanded for hearing on Saturday.

50,000 CHILDREN DOOMED TO DIE IN PRESENT YEAR

Arthur Warren of Near East Relief Describes Appalling Conditions

Brings Home Bright Armenian Orphan

"Even if everything possible be done for the child refuges of Asia Minor, at least 50,000 are doomed to die or starvation and the ravages of typhus this year alone." This poignant statement was made by Arthur Warren, field secretary for California, of the Near East Relief, who is in Victoria on his way way home after a tour of investigation of the stricken countries.

Brought Refugee Boy

Mr. Warren is accompanied by a little Armenian refugee, an orphan boy named Abraham Poochigian. This ten-year-old lad, with a brother four years older, were the sole survivors of a family group of thirty-three, the remainder being massacred by the Turks when they ravaged the town of Harpoot, in Anatolia. This town was one of 104 cities destroyed by the Turks in their retreat of 1921.

Abraham and his brother escaped into the desert where they were later found by the Near East Relief officials, suffering so badly from exposure and starvation that the older boy contracted trachoma and is going blind. Young Poochigian has an uncle and aunt in San Francisco and at their request was brought from Greece, where he has been in one of the relief orphanages. He will remain in Victoria pending the settlement of difficulties concerning his entry into the United States. He is a sturdy little chap, bright and intelligent, and is one of the strongest arguments in favor of public support for the Near East Relief Commission's work.

Help Imperative

Primarily Mr. Warren's trip to Asia Minor was for the purpose of making first hand investigation with a view to finding out if continuance of help to the refugees in the Near East were necessary. What Mr. Warren found out proves conclusively that if the Christian peoples of the world were for one month to refuse aid, the greater number of the 115,000 orphan children now being cared for by the fund would be dead of starvation or typhus.

In the islands in the Ionian and Aegean Seas he found 11,466 Armenian and Greek orphans being cared for by the Near East Relief. All were war orphans. The Armenian children were all expelled from Turkey by order of the Kemalists, while the Greeks were refugees from Smyrna when that city was destroyed by the Turks in September, 1922. In addition to these children, there are over 50,000 adult refugees from Smyrna in the islands.

Support 115,000 Children

The Near East Relief is maintaining 229 orphanages and sixty-nine hospitals, the latter containing children suffering from trachoma, malaria, and starvation. The mission is supporting an orphanage at Alexandropol which contains 18,000 children and is the largest institution of its kind in the world. In addition to the 65,000 children being cared for in orphanages, there are 50,000 children whose parents are in such destitute circumstances that the Near East Relief is helping them with food and clothing.

Tragic scenes were witnessed by Mr. Warren during his tour of investigation, while in Constantinople at one of the relief depots he saw with his own eyes hundreds of refugees die of typhus and starvation-thin, emaciated creatures suffering indescribably. Since 1921 the population of Armenia alone has been reduced by massacre and disease from about 3,500,000 to 1,500,000.

Frugal Meals

Under the present system of relief administration the children in the orphanages are given three meals a day whenever possible; sometimes when funds are running low only one meal a day can be provided. These meals are of the most frugal description, the breakfast menu including three and one-half ounces of bread and one pint of hot water into which one ounce of condensed or dried milk has been dissolved; at dinner there is a a plate of rice, beans or a wheat preparation, and for supper the provision is three and one-half ounces of bread, cold water and when possible a little dried fruit.

Children Taught Trades

The aim of the relief work is to make the children self-supporting as far as possible, rather than to pauperise them. To this end the boys in the orphanages are taught a trade, such as carpentry, tinsmithing, shoe-repairing and making, and blacksmithing. The boys make all the shoes for the orphans and even make the lanterns, cups, plates and saucers used in the institutions, making these latter articles out of the tins in which milk and similar foodstuffs are sent from this continent. The girls make and repair the clothes and help in the housework and assist in the care of the sick.

That this magnificent work is carried on at a minimum cost may be judged from the fact that it costs only $5 per month to clothe and feed a child under the Near East Relief.

LANGFORD WOMEN DISCUSS LIBRARY

The Langford Women's Institute met yesterday afternoon, the chair being taken by the president, Madame Beauchemin. After ordinary business a discussion arose regarding the new library which is henceforth to be open to the general public in the Langford district. In view of this fact, the rules governing the loan of books must necessarily be made more strict. The secretary, Mlle. Du Plessis, was elected official delegate to the forthcoming convention of Island institutes.

M. J. Cheetham then gave a most interesting talk on "The Delineation of character," which aroused considerable interest among the members. Mr. Cheetham explained how the head was made up for forty-two different organs, and advised parents in dealing with their children to find out, if possible, the reason for refraction before they punish, as what might appear to be disobedience on the part of the child may only mean that the characteristic of firmness is strongly developed, and in such cases the child needs guidance more than correction.

It was announced by the president that the next five hundred party will be held on Wednesday next, October 31, at the late home of Mrs. Gibson. The hope was also expressed that more members would make an effort to attend the party. A delightful tea was served by the hostess before the meeting adjourned.

EGYPT WOMEN SEEK FULL PRIVILEGES

Paris, Oct. 24.—The Egyptian woman is no longer a slave, but is reaching out for higher education and the privileges of her Western sisters, according to Mme. Charawy Pasha, president of the feminist movement in Egypt. "It is all a mistake to think the women of Egypt are not shaking off the shackles of the centuries," she said. "To-day there is rarely a veil to be found, and, while women cannot yet vote, the feminist influence alone is likely to save the country from the political anarchy of the last fifty years."

Mme. Charawy told her interviewers that numerous women's schools were operating in Cairo, "preparing the erstwhile oppressed sex for important family duties and against the day when the ballot would increase the family privileges, which, though already accorded by the Koran, seldom are actually permitted in Egyptian homes, such as equal divorce rights and the care of minor children."

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By HELEN KENDALL

Modern Lace Curtains

"Lace curtains!" What sort of picture does that phrase suggest to you, I wonder? To me, until a few weeks ago, it meant those dreary old draped-back lengths of a coarse material known as "Nottingham," and I would as soon have thought of having lace curtains in my home as I would of indulging in what-nots, tidies, or wax flowers under glass!

For a long time we women have been furnishing our windows with simpler materials. Plain nets, voiles, chintzes, drapery silks and soft Japanese crepes have dropped their straight, pliable lines at either side of our windows, and there is no doubt that the interior of our homes has been enormously improved in appearance by curtains which harmonized with the furnishings of our rooms. As to the exterior, perhaps the less said the better. Yellow silk in one window, flowered cretonne in another, pongee in a third, and ruffled muslin in a fourth is enough to make any house resemble a kaleidoscope. That the windows should be uniform in appearance is manifestly beautiful and harmonious, but few women wish to use in their living rooms the same curtains they have in their bedrooms.

To meet this need of uniform exterior appearance combined with the dignity and appropriateness of different rooms, the new and lovely "lace" curtains have been evolved. In many cases they cover the sash flatly, without fullness, especially in rooms where privacy is desired. Filet net woven in rich design is used for many purposes. French doors and windows, windows exposed to a city street, hall doors, and other openings at the front of the house are entirely covered, yet light and air are not excluded. Shadow nets, pattern scrims, delicate voiles with drawn-work and inserts in simple designs, and marquisettes are all attractive for bedroom casements, even when the more elaborate filets are employed downstairs.

In the sketch to-day living-room windows opening directly on to a city street are covered with flat panels of filet lace, with scalloped fringe at the bottom. Drawn tightly over the best, handsome both from within and without. Over the lace panels hang side draperies which bring the windows into harmony with the furnishings of the room

WOMEN IRATE AT CHILD'S TREATMENT

Winnipeg up in Arms at Suspended Sentence in Cruelty Case

Winnipeg, Oct. 25—A little girl, prettily dressed in white, limped to the platform when a meeting of the Women's Labor League was called to protest against a magistrate's decision in the little girl's case. She was maimed for life—not a toe on either foot—because she was made to stand in the snow barefooted by the woman supposed to take care of her.

The Manitoba Free Press says editorially: "The people of Manitoba have become roused over the sufferings and permanent crippling of the little Winnipeg girl, Laura Eliman. They would be callous indeed if they were not roused over the treatment of this unfortunate child by the Goring couple on a farm near Brandon last Winter. The recent disposition of the case, when Mr. and Mrs. Goring were released on suspended sentence, is being reviewed and the whole case investigated by the Attorney-General's Department."

LADIES' GUILD ST. JOHN'S HOSTESSES AT SUPPER SOCIAL

The congregational supper and social held last night in St. John's Schoolroom, Mason Street, by the Ladies' Guild of that church, proved a most successful affair. Elaborate preparation had been made by the ladies and a large number of the congregation and friends of St. John's took advantage of the invitation to be present. A sumptuous supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock. After a short time spent in handshaking and making acquaintance among the members, a most enjoyable programme was rendered, in which the following took part: The Masters Fuller, piano duet; Miss Florence Moorhead, solo; Miss Anderson, solo; Miss Carter, violin solo; Miss Wise, solo; Mr. Moss, solo; Mrs. Tice, piano solo; Miss Ada Fox, solo. The Rector, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, presided, and after expressing his great pleasure in seeing so large a congregational gathering, declared he wished to see the spirit of real friendliness grow more and more in the membership of his church. During the evening Mrs. Townsley was made the recipient of a bouquet of chrysanthemums in token of appreciation of her untiring efforts as president of the Ladies' Guild of St. John's. The annual sale of work, for which the ladies have been working during the whole of the past year, will be held on November 14. The proceeds will be for the organ fund of St. John's Church, and a great effort is being made this year to complete this fund.

VICTORIA REVIEW HELD SUCCESSFUL BIRTHDAY BANQUET

Victoria Review, No. 1, met in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Tuesday evening for its annual banquet in celebration of the birthday of the W.B.A. Order. At a short business session preceding the affair, Mrs. Garrett was re-elected collector and Mrs. Wall the press secretary.

Commander Morley presided and at the conclusion of the business called the officers and members to their appointed places at the gaily decorated tables. There was a large attendance, including representatives of the three local Reviews. The appetizing supper arrangements were in the capable hands of Mrs. Edmunds, Mrs. Lang and Mrs. Herring, assisted by other members.

The toast programme included "The King," proposed by Commander Morley, in response to which the gathering sang the National Anthem; "The Royal Family," proposed by Commander Mrs. Bloor, of Queen Alexandra Review, No. 11, to which the gathering sang "The Maple Leaf." Mrs. Ritchie, collector for Reviews Nos. 11 and 18, proposed the toast of the W.B.A. Order, quoting figures to show that it is the largest organization composed exclusively of women in the world, and also touching upon its finances and aims. Mrs. C. C. Spofford in reply paid tribute to Miss Bina M. West, the founder and Supreme Commander. She also urged the women to fit themselves for higher things so that they might be ready to accept office when called upon to do so.

At the conclusion of the banquet dancing was enjoyed. Grateful appreciation was expressed to the conveners and members who by their efforts contributed so largely to the success of the celebration.

FISHERY BOAT TO BE STATIONED AT BARKLEY SOUND

Thiepval or Givenchy May be Placed at Banfield; Rocket Gun Part of Equipment

A new and very powerful rocket gun is to be sent to Banfield station and will be fitted with a carriage, which will enable its being hauled to any place along the life-saving trails to fire a line to ships in distress, it was learned on the return of B. H. Fraser, a subordinate of the Department of Marine, who was left on the West Coast last week by the Deputy Minister of Marine to look into life-saving appliances and communications on and near Barkley Sound. A. W. Neill, M.P. for Comox Alberni, accompanied Mr. Fraser.

It is understood that the Government is now convinced of the necessity for improving the marine protection on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. Tenders are to be called at once for clearing trails and building bridges to make sure connections between the coast and the Banfield station. New lifeboat supplies and improved equipment will be provided.

The department will place one of the fishery patrol steamers Givenchy or Thiepval on active service in Barkley Sound during the Winter months to render aid to vessels in distress off that section of the coast. Lifesaving equipment will be used, also powerful lifeboats and surfboats. The vessels are sturdy craft, with a speed of about nine knots.

It is understood that the intention is to eventually have a deep sea tug powered sufficiently to combat any storm stationed on Barkley Sound.

Charmer Dropped Her Propellor

The Canadian Pacific steamer Charmer will be hauled out on the Victoria Machinery Depot's marine ways this afternoon for installation of a new propellor. She dropped her propellor in the Gulf. It is expected the job will be completed by to-night and the vessel ready for the water again on Friday.

The steamer Otter will be taken out over the week-end for a general overhaul and cleaning.

HUDSON BAY ROUTE CAN BE USED FOUR MONTHS IN YEAR

Captain Joseph Bernier Testifies at Grain Inquiry

Quebec, Oct. 25.—Testimony regarding the Hudson Bay route was given before the Turgeon Grain Inquiry Commission here yesterday by Captain Joseph Bernier, a navigator since 1869. He had been the master of over a hundred ships in that time, he stated, much of which he had spent in the St. Lawrence River and in the Arctic.

With suitable ships, navigation the year round was possible on the St. Lawrence up to Quebec, he said.

The Hudson Bay route, on which he had sailed, he considered safe for from four to six months of the year. The Hudson's Bay Company had built ships especially for that route and never had had any trouble, he said. At present ships could be equipped for the Bay route without much expense. Port Nelson, he thought, would never be a commercial port, as the river filled the channel every year and made navigation dangerous. Churchill was a smaller port but would carry ships of 10,000 tons. There was to-day thirty feet of sediment in that harbor which would have to be removed. Hudson Bay never froze over, but shore ice accumulated in the centre in the Summer, he said. The Straits of Belle Isle were different. There icebergs were encountered. The bay was clear of ice a month earlier than the straits. Up to November 15 grain vessels could sail out of the bay, he asserted. Not before July could the Summer traffic begin, though the Hudson's Bay Company's vessels went in by June 1. A specially built vessel could operate even earlier and later for grain. In September and October he regarded the bay as safe as the St. Lawrence route for specially built ships.

A depth of fifty feet was not unusual all over the bay, and generally the bay was very deep, he said. Vessels of 10,000 tons, drawing twenty-four feet he thought the best type. Ten per cent. would be the extra cost of building vessels for the bay route over the St. Lawrence.

INTERCOASTAL SHIPS FIGURES ARE ISSUED

Seattle, Oct. 25.—Arrivals and departures of off-shore, intercoastal and coastwise ships in Seattle totaled 389 carriers with a total net tonnage of 1,051,162 in September, according to figures compiled by Port Warden Paul Edwards yesterday. The average was nearly thirteen arrivals and departures a day. Arrivals during the month numbered 197 vessels with a total net tonnage of 536,027; departures numbered 197 vessels with a total net tonnage of 515,135.

PACIFIC TRAFFIC ASSOCIATION HAS NEW PRESIDENT

W. O. Banks Elected President; Cut Announced in Fares

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—W. O. Banks, California rate expert, was elected president of the Pacific Traffic Association, succeeding W. L. Garver, here yesterday. The association has a membership of 675 in San Francisco and is composed of business men in virtually all industries.

Pacific Coast canned goods and seasonal products are not being shipped in such quantities during August, September and October and the "stringing" of the traffic in the products over a longer period, with smaller volume for the three months is increasing according to local shipping men who commented yesterday on this year's shipping demand. The change is said to meet with favor among shipping men, owing to the shortage which they frequently have experienced in the past in cargo space with which to accommodate shippers.

Announcement of drastic reductions in fares by the new Electra Line which will become effective with the sailing of the steamer Cuba from Portland, October 30, was made by John W. Chapman, manager of the line, in a statement made public here to-day. The new fares will range from $19.50 for inside saloon deck accommodations, $25 for promenade and boat deck, $22.50 for outside saloon deck accommodations to $43.25 for round trip accommodations anywhere except in the de luxe suites. The slash in rates is being made to draw tourist travel during the slack Winter months, Chapman said.

UNION SS. COMPANY BUYS LADY EVELYN

The steel steamer Lady Evelyn has been bought by the Union Steamship Co. and will be put into operation soon in the Powell River service.

George McGregor, Victoria manager of the company, in announcing the purchase, said that the Lady Evelyn was previously owned by the Howe Sound Navigation Co. and has seen much service on this Coast.

The Lady Evelyn is a steel steamer that has become popular with excursionists on the Howe Sound run to Gibson's, Grantham's, Hopkins' and Seaside Park. She is a vessel of 189 feet length and 26-foot beam. She has a depth of 9 5-10 feet and a gross tonnage of 588 tons. She is a two-funnel boat, somewhat similar to the old Islander and has an average speed of fourteen knots, although it is said that she can make a possible sixteen knots.

She was at one time an express mail carrier on the St. Lawrence River and was brought out two years ago for the Howe Sound Company. She was built in Great Britain in 1901 as a coal burner, but will be converted by the Union Steamship Company into an oil burner.

C.P.R. SETS NEW WORLD RECORD IN SHIPPING GRAIN

Grain Cars Moving East Shatter Last Year's Record by Over 200 Cars

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—The Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday established a new world's record in the transportation of grain, in the twenty-four hours, there were moved East from Winnipeg for the lake front 1,776 loaded cars. The best previous record also held by the Canadian Pacific was 1,579 cars sent East on October 25, 1921.

The movement yesterday consisted of thirty-eight freight trains, which meant that a fully loaded freight train was dispatched to the East every thirty-eight minutes. In addition three regular passenger trains, a mixed train, and a special train loaded with silk were handled over the same track. The density of traffic can be judged by the fact that at 7 p.m. there were twenty-five freight trains moving on the eastbound track between North Transcona and Kenora, and passenger train number one westbound over that subdivision passed a moving freight train every eight minutes, throughout the run. Illustrative of the strain on all the facilities, it was mentioned that at one wayside water tank on the Kenora sub-division over 300,000 gallons of water was pumped into thirty locomotives during the day. At Kenora round-house a locomotive was handled over the turntable and ash pit every nine minutes.

At Fort William also new records were established. One thousand three hundred and seventy-eight Canadian Pacific cars containing over 2,000,000 bushels of grain were unloaded into terminal elevators. Thirteen hundred and seventy-nine empty box cars were forwarded West from the lake front, which is the largest number ever dispatched in one day.

WILL CONTINUE TRANSHIP BASIS

Atlantic Lines to Accept Oriental Cargo at $10 Minimum

Decision to continue the present business on Oriental transhipment business was reached at the meeting of the Eastbound Intercoastal Conference last week. Although there were protests against accepting freight at rates less than those charged by the North Atlantic Far East Conference, it was decided to prolong the arrangement by which the coast-to-coast lines take cargo at bill of lading rates, with a fifty-fifty division with the transpacific carrier and a $10 minimum.

Secretary J. P. Williams was instructed to request shippers of canned goods, dried fruit and beans to adopt a uniform system of marking packages; preferably with boxes marked on the side and sacks on the end.

After November 1, the conference lines will charge an additional 5 cents per 100 pounds on pool-car shipments to be segregated according to sub-marks. The tariff on heavy lifts was made to conform with that of the Westbound Conference, being based on a scale of 100 pounds additional, instead of on a percentage basis.

JACKSON BRINGING RECORD PASSENGER LIST FROM ORIENT

Has 793 Passengers All Told, and 7,000 Tons of Cargo

W. N. Allan, of the Pacific Steamship Company's office in Victoria, is in receipt of cable advices from Kobe stating that the Admiral Oriental liner President Jackson has started across the Pacific for Victoria and Seattle.

The President Jackson has a total number of 793 passengers, a large number of whom are traveling first class.

In addition to the large passenger list the Jackson is bringing a big cargo. Seven thousand tons of cargo are stowed away in her holds. Included in this cargo is a rich silk consignment. The raw silk is valued at approximately $6,500,000.

The President Grant, which was damaged while in the Orient, is reported proceeding on her journey. She will make repairs in the Orient.

BUILDING IS AT NEW LOW POINT

Ship Construction Registers Marked Slump in Three Months

The lowest point in the amount of new world tonnage constructed since the war was registered at the end of September, according to the report of Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The report shows 165,000 gross tonnage less than on June 30. Figures by Lloyds give the following three months' comparison:

| | Oct. 1 | July 1 |
|---|---|---|
| Gt. Britain and Ireland | 1,371,195 | 1,337,749 |
| United States | 99,583 | 133,460 |
| Other Countries | 1,907,119 | 1,972,437 |

Contracts on which work has been suspended in Great Britain and Ireland now represent 242,000 tons, as against 83,000 tons for all other countries. The actual construction now under way, therefore, compares with that of the previous quarter as follows:

| | Oct. 1 | July 1 |
|---|---|---|
| Gt. Britain and Ireland | 1,629,195 | 1,267,759 |
| Other Countries | 1,623,502 | 1,074,697 |

Launchings in the two periods reveal a sharp decrease and compare as follows:

| | Oct. 1 | July 1 |
|---|---|---|
| Gt. Britain and Ireland | 62,979 | 238,121 |
| Other Countries | 221,644 | 322,291 |

Tanker Construction Better

Tanker construction has just about held even, as shown by the following table:

| | Oct. 1 | July 1 |
|---|---|---|
| Gt. Britain and Ireland | 92,796 | 102,826 |
| United States | 19,800 | 19,800 |
| Other Countries | 65,994 | 57,144 |

LAKE SUPERIOR IS LASHED BY STORM

Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 25.—Heavy weather prevailed on Lake Superior during last night and practically all steamers were forced to seek shelter behind Friendly Island from strong northeasterly gales which lashed the waters from early evening until daybreak this morning. The steamer Huronic, which left Sault Ste. Marie at noon yesterday, came through safely and docked at 9 o'clock this morning and Captain Wright reported heavy seas, with ships lying at anchor from "The Slates" to the head of the lake. At daylight this morning the fleet of seven ships at anchor in the bay during the night cleared for the east.

Storm signals were displayed on the Port Arthur marine signal station this morning.

Gibson Agrees To Play Hockey With Victoria

Calgary Player, Who Refused to Report to Cougars, Again Changes His Mind

Arrangements Made to Protect His Job in Calgary; Oatman Will Report

Special to The Times

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 25.—Quietness reigns again in the hockey realm and Manager Lloyd Turner, of the Calgary Tigers, spent his first peaceful night in weeks. Jimmy Gibson is going to join Victoria after all and there will be no doubt about Eddie Oatman coming to the Tigers. This morning Gibson said that he would go to the coast, and this decision was reached as a result of certain arrangements which were completed to safeguard him in his business position. Manager Turner heaved a sigh of relief when he found that everything was satisfactory as there was quite a disturbance for a time when Gibson dropped his bombshell by announcing that he would not go to Victoria.

Lester Patrick, Victoria manager, stated that he would not let Oatman go unless Gibson fulfilled his obligations by reporting, and an an alternative, Patrick would not consider any substitution except Harry Oliver. This was out of the question so far as Calgary was concerned and steps were then taken to induce Gibson to carry out his promise to report.

Oatman will report here shortly before November 15 and will then take the Tigers on to Winnipeg for the training-on artificial ice preparatory to the season's start at Seattle December 5 which will be followed by two other fixtures on the coast before returning here for the opening.

"I guess I'll heave a sigh as well," commented Lester Patrick, manager of the Cougars, when shown the above dispatch this morning. "Getting the hockey season started has plenty of worries and this cuts one less from my list."

Lester was anxious to see the deal go through in view of the fact that all parties concerned were agreeable at the time the trade was made. He does not like to see the joker appearing at the wrong time and spoiling the play.

Lester, however, held the upper hand in the deal as he informed the Calgary management on Monday that unless they sent Gibson, or a player of recognized ability to Victoria, that he would refuse to allow Oatman to report.

This caused the Calgary officials to get busy as they were keen to land Oatman to act as playing-manager this Winter. Lester did not wish to stand in the way of Eddie securing a higher berth in hockey but he did not intend to have the strength of his club reduced.

Gibson Is a Comer

Gibson is one of the best prospects on the prairies. He turned pro last Winter and made a great name for himself with the Calgary Tigers. He was up among the leading scorers. Gibson is only a youngster and has many years of useful hockey ahead of him.

Bill Speck, who comes with Gibson, is another youngster who has shown many flashes of good hockey, but who was forced to remain idle part of last year owing to an injured knee. He is in fine shape now and will be here with the rest of the boys for the first workout on November 5.

Await News From Heck and Clem

With the Gibson-Oatman deal fixed up Manager Patrick has only a few players to hear from. He has seven players now on his staff five of whom are awaiting transportation to bring them across the continent. Frank Frederickson will be joined in Winnipeg by his old side-kicker "Slim" Halderson, and they will come out together. Speck, Gibson and Trihey are the other out-of-town players who will be along within the next ten days. Jocko Anderson and Harry Meeking are right on the ground, ready to see the Arena doors open.

Lester Patrick is still waiting for replies from Hec Fowler and Clem Loughlin. Lester will secure a tenth man to round out his squad.

BILL SPECK

Word was received from Calgary this morning that Jimmy Gibson would come out to Winter on the coast and fill in his odd moments by playing hockey. For ten days Gibson balked at coming, stating that he would not sacrifice his job for a professional hockey career. Arrangements have been made to protect his job and he will be here on November 5 to start training. Bill Speck will come along with him, both having been secured in the trade for Eddie Oatman.

Ready to Appear Before Government On Amusement Tax

Committee of Amateur Sportsmen Will Arrange Date to Present Their Case

Things are almost shipshape for the delegation from the allied sports of British Columbia to wait on the Provincial Government and ask that the ten per cent. amusement tax on amateur sports be abolished.

At a meeting of the committee which is handling the local campaign in support of the movement, held last evening, Jimmy Adam, the acting chairman, also head of the Rotary Club, was instructed to arrange with Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, a date for a meeting.

Immediately the date is set the committee will send out its "S.O.S." calls to all parts of the Province for delegates to come in ramed with their petitions and signatures.

Name Representatives

The Victorians who will appear no the committee which is to appear before the Government was appointed last night and is as follows: Jimmy Adam, Alex. Robertson, president of the British Columbia Football Association and head of the Victoria and District Football League; Percy Watson, provincial president of the Amateur Hockey Association; H. Bird, president of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club; Gordon Cameron, secretary of the Victoria Rugby Union; J. G. Brown, secretary of Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, and George I. Warren.

The Up-Island representatives will include Charles Graham, general manager of the Canadian Collieries at Cumberland, and C. G. Callin, Ladysmith, vice-president of the British Columbia Football Association. The Mainland and other portions of British Columbia will be represented by the following sportsmen: Thomas Davis, president of B.C. Baseball Association; James Haslett, head of Lower Mainland football organization, and R. Gunn, president of Vancouver Rugby Union.

Reports presented at the meeting showed that feeling was aroused on this amusement tax matter all over the Province, and the athletic bodies were unanimous in their requests that amateur sport be exempted from any such impost.

All local athletic associations are requested to write Percy Watson, Acme Press, who is officiating as secretary of the local committee, giving their endorsement to the abolition of the amusement tax plan.

QUOITS

Some good games were seen in the second round of the Aitken medal at the Willows on Saturday. D. McMillan beat D. McCaig, J. Leiper beat S. Watt, H. Reid beat F. Taylor, J. McMillan beat R. McKenzie, leaving two games still to be played in the second round. Players who do not turn up during the week-end will lose their game.

Arrangements for a social evening will be made in the near future, when cups and medals will be presented to the winners for 1923.

"Smoky" Harris May Switch Over To Seattle Mets

Maroons' Speedy Left-Winger May be Traded; Boucher and Parkes Both Sign

Vancouver Hockey Team Lining up to Defend Its Honors This Winter

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Things are warming up rapidly in the world of hockey hereabouts. Yesterday Frank Patrick announced that Frank Boucher and the Vancouver club management had come to terms after much paper had been consumed in negotiations. Ernie Parkes will also be back.

Boucher, one of the famous family of athletes, whose brother George is a member of the world champion Ottawa club, decided after his great season with the Maroons last year that he was worth more money.

The Vancouver prexy was willing to concede that, but it then became a question of "how much?"

These are the little details that try the souls of the hockey men, but all is now arranged and Boucher will be along here in a few days ready for the opening practices.

Harris to Seattle

It is also announced that Smokey Harris, if he plays this year, will don a Seattle uniform.

Harris is regarded by some critics as one of the most valuable players in the Coast League. But his style of play is more suited to that of the Mets than to Vancouver, it is thought, and Patrick has arranged a deal whereby Harris will go to Seattle, if he plays this year, in exchange for one of the Seattle men, just who is not known definitely, until Harris indicates a desire to return to the game.

Smokey assured friends toward the close of last season that he was through. But that is the annual statement of fifty per cent. of hockey players everywhere and may not be taken too seriously.

Harris is a brakeman on the Oregon & Washington road and might find Seattle a more convenient centre than a city on this side of the line.

Harris is one of the original members of the Vancouver team of 1911. He played one or two seasons here and then went to Portland, coming back to Vancouver again about four seasons ago.

Boucher Developed Quickly

Frank Boucher, who comes for his second season on the Coast, ran Mickey Mackay a close race for popular favor last year. Clean and fast on the blades, he made a hit in every city on the circuit and before the end of the season was well up in the fight for scoring honors.

Boucher will again play centre for the Maroons and is expected to prove more sensational than ever. He lacks the ability to shoot with the speed and precision of Alf Skinner or Mackay, but in all other departments of play ranks with the best.

Ernie Parkes had expressed a wish to remain in Toronto where he is in business. But the Maroons need players like the quiet Kitchener youth too badly to let Parkes have his way, and the shifty wing and centre player will be on the job again with the others for the opening practice.

Record of Jones in Open Play is Better Than Pros

New York, Oct. 25.—Bobby Jones, youthful Atlanta golf wizard, who shook the jinx that has beset him in tile play long enough to bag the national open championship this season at Inwood, is created with a new record for consistance billiance in the national event. Records of the past four open championships show that Jones has completed a grand average of 74 and 5-15 strokes per round, leading all rivals, professional and amateur alike, over the span of competitions. His nearest rivals are Jim Barnes and Walter Hagen, who over the same stretch each has averaged 75 and 1-16 strokes, while Jock Hutchison is next with mark of 75½.

Jones made his debut in open play in 1920, and finished eighth with 299 strokes. He was tied for fifth in 1921 with 303 and tied for second in 1922, with 289, a stroke behind Gene Sarazen. This year the Georgian tied Bobby Cruikshank with 296, defeating the Shackamoxon professional 76 to 78 in the eighteenth-hole play off for the title.

Excluding his play-off this year Jones has taken a toal of 1,187 strokes in the championship proper as compared with 1,201 for Hagen and Barnes and 1,208 for Hutchison.

Canadian Battler is Now Hard on Trail of Heavyweight Champ

A MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN MOUNTED

LEARNED HIS INS AND OUTS FROM DEMPSEY

A PUNCH TO THE HEART IS DEADLIER THAN TO THE JAW

JACK RENAULT

New York, Oct. 25. — Thundering down the heavyweight trail comes Sergeant Jack Renault, of the Canadian Mounted, big-fisted, square-jawed, oak-hearted.

Sergeant Jack is on a man hunt. Tradition assures one that the Canadian Mounted always come back with their man. Renault is after Dempsey, champion of the heavies. To get to Dempsey he is prepared to storm the forbiding outposts as represented by Wills, Firpo and Gibbons.

Renault, an unimpressive fourth rater two years ago, has come fast and far in recent months.

Put Them Away

Joe Downey, who lasted the limit with Firpo, was knocked out in three rounds by Renault.

Fred Fulton, holder of the horizontal heavyweight championship of the world, fell before Renault's ceaseless hammering in nine rounds.

Tiny Herman, with a rugged displacement of 220 pounds, could not stand up before the Canadian's sharp drum fire.

George Godfrey, enormous Ethiopian, and rated next to Harry Wills in punching ability and promise, was stopped cold.

Not a dazzling array of victims you say? True, Downey, Fulton, Herman and Godfrey hardly size up as world beaters. But it probably takes a fair battler to beat them just the same, and two years ago, you'll remember, Renault wasn't even a fair battler.

Billy Miske knocked Renault out in thirteen rounds less than two years ago, and Gene Tunney, light-heavyweight, kicked him about with incredible ferocity. Others have whipped him. Others may whip him in the future, but their task will not be easy or simple.

They Come on Fast

Many fighters have started at a slip-shod gait only to come on later with the sure, confident stride of a champion. Jim Flynn, ham and egger de luxe, knocked Dempsey out in a round. That was in 1917. Two years later Dempsey was the champion.

Benny Leonard was knocked out twice, first by Joe Shugrue, next by Frankie Fleming, both second raters. Now Leonard is ranked with Gans and Lavigne as the greatest lightweight in history.

All of which proves that you never can tell and even then you can't tell much.

Renault, with a local reputation, earned in Montreal rings, came to the States two years ago and joined Dempsey's camp at Atlantic City as a sparring partner. This was his first introduction to big time battling. Dempsey, training for the Carpentier push-over, belabored his assistants with great fury. Renault says he suffered some and learned much in that camp.

Now is fate, giddy old dame, to take Renault, battered sparring partner, and exalt him to the Dempsey throne?

Jeffries was a sparring partner in Jim Corbett's camp, and Jeff later won the title from Jim.

Amateur Hockey League To Talk Over Prospects

Whether or not there will be amateur hockey this Winter, and if there is what teams will comprise the league, will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Victoria Amateur Ice Hockey Association to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in room C at the Y.M.C.A.

All officials of the league and all others interested in the amateur game are invited to attend the meeting.

There was some doubt as to whether the game would survive last Winter, but a number of fans got together and helped the league through. Only two teams operated but they played good hockey, although before small crowds.

May Be Three Teams

This Winter it is expected that the Commercial League will drop out of existence and that three teams will play in the Senior League. The Pacifics, last year's champions, and the Shells, runners-up, are reported to be anxious to compete again and the Colonist, winners of the Commercial League, are said to seek a berth in senior company. If the amateur game goes on it is possible that the league will be limited to three clubs owing to the lack of players in this city.

The officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Dan O'Sullivan, president for the past two years, will preside at to-night's meeting.

FISHERMEN'S RACE SET BACK TWO DAYS

Halifax, Oct. 25.—The trustees of the international fishermen's trophy late yesterday announced that the first race of this year's championship series between the American challenger Columbia and the Canadian defender Bluenose had been postponed from next Saturday until Monday at the request of the American race committee because of unfavorable weather.

MOONLIGHT GOLF IS NOW CRAZE IN STATES

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 25.—Moonlight golf is the latest sport innovation here.

Several members of the North Hills Country Club, who have been playing at night, said the only requirement was to stand still after hitting the ball, so as to hear it drop. Midirons are used on all shots. The other night three moonlight players turned in scores of 53, 55 and 56 respectively for nine holes and only one ball was lost.

O'LEARY GETS DECISION

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Mike O'Leary, lightweight, won the decision over Jimmy Butler in a four-round bout which was the main event of a boxing show here last night. O'Leary led during most of the fighting, but piled up a strong lead in points in the last two rounds.

Tommy Gardner knocked out George Gibbons in the fourth round of a special event.

Two Shut-outs Registered in Mid-week Soccer

Garrison in Their First Appearance, Defeated Hudson's Bay With Ease

Cranleigh House Goes Under For Second Time This Season by Big Score

Two shut-outs were registered in the games in the Wednesday Football League yesterday afternoon, when the Garrison triumphed over the Hudson's Bay by 4 goals to 0, and Broad Street conquered the Cranleigh eleven by 6 goals to nil.

As a result of the Garrison's surprising victory the cry has gone up in the Wednesday League to watch out for the Tommies. They showed plenty of speed and dash yesterday, and will take some beating in the race.

There will be plenty of fur flying when the Garrison meet the Teamsters. They are the only undefeated teams in the league, standing at the top with one win apiece. The Hudson's Bay and Broad Street are next with a win and a loss each, while Cranleigh House has been defeated in both matches to date.

In the game at the Royal Athletic Park between the Garrison and the Bays, play waged fast from the start, both teams fighting hard to score the first goal and jump into the lead. The ball traveled from one end of the field to the other, and both goalies had to turn aside some fast drives. The Tommies' goalie was tested first. Obee, the Bays' inside left, sent in a fast one, which Biss cleared nicely. The ball then went sailing down the field, and Shrimpton, the departmental store's net guardian, was given some hot work, but all the efforts of the soldiers to break into the scoring column were futile, as Shrimpton was right on the job, and turned everything aside with a wicked eye.

The attack on the Bay goal was short-lived, and the Tommies' defence was again forced to stave off the attacks of the opposing forwards, who were intent on scoring, and three corners were forced, but all chances were lost. The bombardment continued, and only through a bit of hard luck the Bays were kept from sagging the hemp. A close shave was then registered by the soldiers when Cummins, outside right, sent in a hot on that Shrimpton turned aside at full length.

At half-time neither team had scored.

Garrison Tally

Shortly after the start off the second half the Garrison jumped into the lead when Coulter, playing centre forward, drove the leather into the net for the first goal of the match. Immediately after the Garrison were awarded a corner, and Pocock centrede beautifully. Armstrong got his toe to the ball, and found the net for the Garrison's second tally. From the kick-off the Garrison continued to press and to make his team's victory more certain when he beat Shrimpton with a fast drive into the corner of the net.

With about three minutes to go Husselton and Pocock staged a two-man rush, and after evading opposing backs, the former player made no mistake by placing the leather between the goal for the final tally. The whistle blew immediately after the kick-off.

Oliver handled the whistle to the satisfaction of all. The teams were as follows:

Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton; Haines and Blakely; Gardner, Sewell and Bethell; McKay, Obee, Hawkes, Veitch and Woodley.

Garrison — Biss; Spiers and Grimes; Ward, Armstrong and Mitchell; Cummings, Stevens, Coulter, Husselton and Pocock.

While the Garrison were trimming the Bays at the other end of town, Beacon Hill, the Broad Street eleven, were handing Cranleigh House their worst defeat of the season, trouncing them to the tune of six goals to nil. The Cranleigh team was considerably weakened through the absence of four of their regular players. However, with their regular line-up it is doubtful whether the students would have had a chance with the fast Broad Street team. Their forwards were working well, and Harry Copas played an excellent game at centre half, while he had the whole-hearted support from his teammates on the half-back line. McGuire and Newman at full-back used their weight to advantage, and not one of the opposing forwards was able to break through the strong defence.

Quick Goals

In the opening minutes of play the winners drove home three goals. The first came as the result of a combined rush when Johnson, found the net with a beautiful shot from a distance. A few minutes later Copas sent a hot drive into the left-hand corner of the net. Befpre the students had quite got over the effect of these two goals the ball was once again in their net the ball going off the toe of Johnson.

The scholars then got down to work, and they kept Broad Street out of the danger area, the play being kept in centre field. A few occasional rushes by the Cranleigh forwards penetrated into the penalty, but their shots either went wide or the ball was secured by the opposing backs.

From the kick-off of the second half the superior weight and ability of the Broad Street team began to tell, and the play once more went into the danger zone of the students. Patterson got away with the ball, and passing the backs notched the fourth tally for Broad Street. Another goal came right after, when Rutter dribbled the ball down from centre field, and sent in a low drive that gave the opposing goalie no chance to save. Play then waged fast around the student's goal, and Johnson bagged his third goal when he took a pass from Quire and sent in a beautiful shot from right wing, the ball sailing past the net guardian for the final goal of the game.

Percy Payne refereed the match.

The teams took the field as follows:

Cranleigh House School—Donaldson, Milton, Hayes, Evans, Rumney, Haggen, Husband, Wainman, Costerton, Nelder and Martin.

Broad Street — Rhodes, Newman, Rutter, Hilton, Copas (captain), Kirchin, Patterson, Jeffrey, McGuire, Johnson and Nex.

SOLD TO TORONTO

WILF LOUGHLIN

Victoria hockey fans will not see Wilf Loughlin in action this season as a deal has been completed whereby the big fellow will join the St. Pats, of Toronto. Wilf is now in Winnipeg and will travel east within a few weeks to start training with the world's champions of 1921-22.

Wilf has been with the Victoria club for several seasons. He jumped from the amateurs at the time when the Tu created great inroads in the camp of the Cougars. Prior to his leap into professionalism he was rated as one of the most sensational amateurs in Winnipeg. He looked good during his first two seasons here but seemed to go backwards from then on. He was tried out on the forward line and on the defence and most of last year watched the games from the side-lines.

Wilf had plenty of speed, stick-handling ability and a rifle shot, but he never seemed to like the rough going. The Victoria defence was always shaky while Wilf was on the ice, and the moment that "Slim" Halderson blossomed out as a star on the inner guard, Wilf's time as a regular was done. He put in some time as a sub last season.

It is possible that Wilf may find himself in his new surroundings. Lester Patrick, manager of the Cougars, who, realizing the vast amount of natural ability Wilf possesses as a hockey player, has tried hard to make a star out of him and hopes that the change will do him good and help him to find his feet.

Vancouver Amateur Clubs Sign Three Prairie Hockeyists

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Some real competition in the senior amateur ice hockey league can be looked for by other teams from the Monarchs, who are out to stage a strong comeback when they meet their first opponent in a league fixture. With an already formidable string of players practically signed up, the Monarchs made sure of a real team when they secured the signatures of two other players who hail from the prairies, and who will uncover some dazzling hockey at the Arena this year.

J. C. Cassidy, who last year helped to take care of the defence for the North Battleford team and who played a good game throughout the season, with W. Miller, of the Kindersley team, Manitoba, and who formerly played in Winnipeg, are the two players whom the Monarchs have secured.

Vic Ripstein, who last year was the star-bright forward of the Tampany Tigers of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, will also wear the Monarchs colors. Among the local players who will be seen wearing the colors will be Dave Smith, Doug. Wood, Phil. Bain, J. Wilson and Art. Jefford. Carl Champman, who will manage the team this year, along with G. Cunningham, and Russell Barker, is slated for the goal-tending job.

McTIGUE AND TUNNEY WILL BOX ON DEC. 10

New York, Oct. 24.—Mike McTigue and Gene Tunney yesterday posted weight and appearance forfeits for their fifteen-round match at Madison Square Garden December 10 for the world's light heavyweight title. Under the agreement both are to make the class limit, 175 pounds at 2 p.m., the day of the bout. Both McTigue, whose title will be at stake, and Tunney, who holds the American light heavyweight crown, are preparing to begin training.

ARMADALE CARRYING ON

The Armadale Tennis Club has made arrangements by which the tenure of the courts is secured for next season, and also intends holding a series of monthly invitation dances alternately with the grass hockey club.

The first Armadale dance will be on November 7 at the K. of C. Hall from 9 to 1 o'clock. Heaton's orchestra has been secured. Tickets may be obtained from members on and after next Saturday.

Britain's Trio Of Vet Golfers Has Now Passed

Vardon, Braid and Taylor Have Been Eclipsed by Younger Stars

Downfall of Old-Timers, Which Has Been Coming For Years, Occurs

London, Oct. 25—The golfing expert of the "Observer" says that 1923 will go down in golf history as the period that marked the definite eclipse of the old brigade and the rise of the new generation of golfers. "For four years," he says, "there have been distinct signs that the change was taking place, but it was left to the present season to bring about the complete revolution. Much as we admired the wonderful prowess of the famous trio, Braid, Vardon and Taylor, with Herd as a sort of whipper-in, and much as we regret the gradual breakup of that phenomenal combination, so far as its effectiveness is concerned, it is impossible not to recognize that no set of men in any phase of popular sport has ever had such a prolonged and uninterrupted run for their money. For nearly twenty-nine years they have been supreme.

Vardon Fails Badly

They are no longer invincible, as has been demonstrated beyond question this year, and never more so than at Woodcote Park the other day, when two of them even failed to qualify for the match-play stages of the professional championship at Walton Heath. Vardon was the first to go down in the maelstrom. For years his putting has been so notoriously bad, at times almost farcical, that one naturally attributes failure to his mysterious weakness in this particular department of the game. On this occasion it was something totally different. His putting was not such as to transport one into ecstacies of delight, nor, on the other hand, was it frantically immoral; it was just ordinary. Vardon is very much like the everyday golfer who shrugs his shoulders and says, with a touch of bitterness, "Well, if it isn't one darned thing it is another."

Cannot Judge Distance

During the many years I have seen Vardon play, in all conditions and in all circumstances, he has always struck me as the one golfer who never failed to judge instantly the distance from any given spot to the pin, and to guage accurately the kind of shot required to cover the intervening space. It comes instinctively, like that of the expert marksman, who can tell at a glance the range and elevation of any shot. But, mysterious to relate Vardon failed conspicuously at Woodcote because over and over again he was utterly wrong in his conception of the approach shots, whether long or short.

Horrible Putting

Of course when a man misses six-inch and eighteen-inch putts, as Braid did, there can be no hope for him. It seems a thousand pities that a golfer who is still able to hit the ball vast distances with both wood and iron should bow the knee when it comes to a tiny putt. John Low laid it down recently that the Americans excel because "on the putting green they do not have the strange diversities of opinion which seem to take possession of many of our players whenever they near the hole. They (the Americans) stand up and hit the ball in a natural manner, instead of assuming curious postures which seem to indicate that the hitting of a ball in a straight line becomes more difficult when it has only to be hit a few feet instead of 200 yards."

Americans Putt Better

"How very true of the vast majority of British professionals. The weird attitudes they strike and the cowardice displayed in hitting the ball when near the holes are sufficient to make one go hot from very shame. Mitchell is another who, when he has the putter in his hand, makes your heart leap into your mouth from downright fright. And I verily believe that he is as mortally afraid of his putter as the man who handles a live bomb for the first time. Whoever saw Hagen or, for that matter, any first-class American professional, exhibit signs of nervousness when the holing out comes to be done? The putts may not go in, but Hagen, instead of becoming pusillanimous, grows more courageous. It is the right mental attitude.

"All the honors have again gone to the younger school of golfers, who since Havers gave them the cue at Troon in June, have received fresh inspiration and encouragement. F. Ball, of Langley Park, Beckenham, the new Kent champion, has followed up his recent triumphs by sweeping the board at Woodcote. Ball, like his brother, the late Tom Ball, is a beautiful putter, who stands up to the ball and hits it in a perfectly natural way. There is no grovelling on the ground to inspect the line, no picking up of imaginary obstacles; no walking to and fro to observe things that are not there. Ball just hits the ball in the simplest possible manner, and this is the keynote of all successful putting.

THE SILVER LINING

There had been a blow-out and the father of the family was perspiringly and profanely changing tires.

"I don't see why you have to talk that way," said his wife, reproachfully. "You act as if it were a total loss. You never see the good in things."

"Well, what good is there in this?"

"Why, it tickled the baby so. He laughed right out loud when it went bang!"

MAGNUS TRIES OUT HIS CHAIR.—Here's Magnus Johnson, stentorian radical, Minnesota's dirt farmer choice to the United States Senate. The new Senator is shown seated before his desk in the Senate office building. Great things are expected of him when he gets into action. He guarantees he is going to start something.

EAT AND SLEEP TO SCHEDULE.—This family of twenty-five children are put to bed and are served at meals in shifts. They have all been adopted by the couple shown in the photograph who care for them without help.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—The two occupants of this car escaped with no worse injuries than a shaking-up. The car itself turned a complete somersault at Brock and College Streets, Toronto.

ON FASHIONABLE RIVERSIDE DRIVE.—Lieutenant Edwin Johnson, army flier at Mitchell Field, landed his plane on Riverside Drive, New York City, within the shadow of Grant's Tomb. The machine hit the drive, skidded and smashed into a post, destroying the front of the plane. The aviator was not seriously hurt.

——AND DOING NICELY, THANK YOU.—A careless autoist got Fido into all this trouble as shown in the picture. With back broken, hips dislocated and otherwise torn and mangled, J. W. Dibert, his owner, at first was advised to shoot him. Instead a veterinary surgeon was called, and encasing the helpless dog in plaster cast and splints, the vet soon had Fido to a point of recovery where he can now do everything but chase cats and write his name.

IN MEMORY. — When this $4,000,000 Washington Masonic National Memorial, to be erected in honor of President Washington, is completed it will represent the grandest monument ever consecrated to the memory of any human being. Impressive ceremonies will mark the laying of the cornerstone Nov. 1. The monument will rise on the right bank of the Patomac just over the Virginia line on Shooters Hill, at Alexandria. It will be 200 feet high and 160 feet wide.

DEATH AND SCRAP IRON!—Four trainmen killed and scores of passengers badly shaken was the toll of a recent train wreck in Arizona, forty-six miles north of Phoenix. Photo shows what was left of the engine and dining car.

DUMB LIKE FOXES! WHAT SAY?—Ordinarily, a goose isn't credited with much sense. Neither is a pig. But be that as it may, to "Bennie" (above) and "Tobie" (left), must go the cat's ankle drinking cup for using their beans. During the Japanese earthquake the two ambled up the gangplank of the Ss. President Grant in Yokohama, and on the return to America, enjoyed official rank as refugees.

VINCENT MASSEY, of Toronto, told the Regina Canadian Club that the "Whisper of Death" is high treason

LAST CALL FOR DINNER.—This affectionate Jersey cow, hailing from San Angelo, Tex., lent a helping hand to the four orphans shown in the picture who are doing very well, thank you, but were too busy to watch the birdie when the photographer tried to gain their attention. Upon careful inspection you will see a goat, two lambs and a calf.

NEW LOWS MADE IN CHEAP RAILS

(By British American Bond Corp., Ltd.)

New York, Oct. 25.—Some of the low priced rails went into new low ground for the year in to-day's trading. Missouri Pacific, Rock Island, St. Paul and Erie were under pressure throughout the session. The most prominent feature, however, was the remarkable resistance shown by speculative favorites in the industrial group and the higher priced rails. American Can, Baldwin Locomotives, Gulf States Steel, Chesapeake and Ohio, and New York Central were absorbed at small recessions. The copper issues continued to establish new lows as did U.S. Rubber common and preferred.

The close was steady at good fractional recoveries in weak features and firm in high priced specialties and rails.

BETTER TONE IN CHICAGO GRAINS

(By British American Bond Corp., Ltd.)

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A decidedly better tone developed in corn futures in to-day's trading, especially in the nearby delivery. Cash prices were a little better for the old corn, while new corn was a shade lower. Wheat sympathized with corn, gaining a cent in the early trading.

There was no particular news to account for the firmer market, the advance being put down to the better technical position as a result of the recent setback. Receipts of corn continue to run much less than for the coresponding days a year ago, while wheat and oats receipts are about the same. Last prices were a cent higher for corn and half a cent higher for wheat as compared with the previous close.

WISH TO TRADE ON WINNIPEG EXCHANGE

J. S. Bache and Co., Chicago, Say Copper-Tincher Act Restrictions Too Heavy

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—Government price fixing or any other Government interference with the economic law of supply and demand would react ruinously upon the grain producing farmers of the country, Joseph P. Griffin, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said in Minneapolis to-day.

Mr. Griffin was a visitor at the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce en route to Winnipeg, where his firm, J. S. Bache & Co., of Chicago, plans to obtain a membership on the Winnipeg Exchange as a means of seeking relief from the regulations imposed through the Capper-Tincher Act.

The farmers' plight, he believes, has been greatly exaggerated and misunderstood.

"One of the principal troubles with the Northwestern wheat situation this year is that the crop is low in quality for milling purposes, and there is talk of raising the tariff to guard against the importation of Canadian grain," he said. "As a matter of fact, the flow of Canadian grain might be an aid to the Northwestern farmer in this way. Since the Canadian wheat is of a high grade for milling use, it could be mixed with the lower quality Northwestern wheat to produce a grade of wheat which could command a higher price. This would make the Northwestern wheat more readily salable."

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—Trading was of fair volume on the wheat market here today. There appeared to be a good demand for October and November futures and there was further evidence of increasing interest from seaboard. Early in the session prices advanced about ½ cent, but during the last hour values reacted and closed unchanged to ⅛ lower. The coarse grain markets continued featureless.

Oats was in fair demand on the cash market, but other grains were quiet and the inquiry indifferent.

BULLISH ON COTTON

New York, Oct. 25.—Billy Mitchell says cotton will sell 31½ cents next week.

MARKET OPINIONS

(By British American Bond Corp., Ltd.)

New York, Oct. 25.—Market opinions to-day are:

Hornblower & Weeks—Situation is uncertain enough to warrant lightening of holdings on all rallies.

Prince Whitely—Conduct of liquidation suggests that the selling has not been completed.

Miller & Co.—A good technical recovery is apparently due but no real betterment can be had until present handicaps are lifted.

J. S. Bache—The market is not out of danger yet.

Pynchon & Co.—We again suggest that rail profits be taken as ample opportunity should be afforded between now and the first of year to replace them.

A. A. Housman & Co.—The market continues to stand aside while liquidation is under way. Yesterday the copper group felt the brunt of selling, not short selling, we think, but liquidation. With fear expressed coppers, like the tires, are now around the lows registered in the 1921 bear market. It does not seem logical to believe that they will go much, if any, lower. Concrete developments are not yet in sight. A special stock which advances is C.I.P., in anticipation of establishment of 7 per cent. rate. Rails were weak.

AMERICAN GRAIN INFLUENCES BEARISH

(By British American Bond Corp., Ltd.)

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The Chicago Tribune to-day says:

"The grain market is expected to be influenced by news from Washington as a result of the conference to be held there between Government officials and grain men from Chicago and the West and Northwest.

"Aside from political considerations, the influences are bearish on grain prices. A local operator who stands by technical conditions closely says that the action of the past few days suggests a liberal absorption of the offerings of both wheat and corn. A few of the commission houses are favoring the buying side on breaks, but do not expect the market to advance greatly unless the Government does something radical that will start large buying and advance prices."

SHELL-UNION EARNINGS

New York, Oct. 25.—Shell Union earned in first half year, $1.27 after depletion.

(By Burdick Bros., Ltd.)

Gulf States Steel reports net operating income of 478,063 for quarter ended September 30, after taxes depreciation, etc. Net profits were 336,747.

Wheat, 1-8 up Dec. 8-8 3-8 March 8-7¼.

Chicago Tribune says: For the immediate future the wheat market is expected to be influenced news from Washington as a result of the conference to be held there the next ten days between Government officials and grainmen from Chicago. The west and northwest. Geo. A. Roberts, of Omaha, who was in the Washington party, was in Chicago yesterday and talked bullish on wheat. Aside from political influences the wheat traders in general are bearish.

MIXED MARKET IN STOCKS TO-DAY

(Supplied by Burdick Bros., Ltd.)

New York, Oct. 25.—The market again was a rather mixed affair, and weakness was in evidence in certain groups. Missouri Pacific and St. Paul were under pressure reflecting the belief that these roads will not earn full fixed charges for the current year. Constructive utterances by some of the leading steel men is having the effect of stimulating considerable optimism with respect to the steel charges. Considerable offerings from professional sources made its appearance to-day, but this did not have the effect of dislodging much long stock and prices recovered on a moderate amount of buying. The action of the many issues seems to indicate that the resistance point has been reached and with any fresh constructive news the market may enjoy a fair sized rally.

FIRMNESS DISPLAYED IN GRAIN MARKET

(By Burdick Bros., Ltd.)

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Wheat—Showed sustained firmness with lack of selling pressure again the outstanding feature. Price advanced attracted realizing sales however, and few gains were not maintained. Receipts were small and the cash market strong. Foreign conditions showed no important change. The trade is being influenced by the talk of Government action to ship wheat from this country. Until that bugaboo is disposed of, it is advisable to be cautious and limit sales to bulges.

Corn—Local trade was short and bid up prices to cover. Outside interest did not broaden on the upturn, and this made it difficult to support advances. Weather conditions generally were favorable and new crop corn here sold at further reduction in prices, while old crop was firm. We believe the market will need new buying incentive to hold its present level.

Oats—Firm market with buying led by cash interests lack of selling pressure was a feature. Receipts moderate and cash prices higher. The comparatively low price of this grain recommends itself for investment, but the speculative interest is limited and a narrow market is to be expected.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Sandman Story For To-night

ONCE IN A PLAY ROOM—Part I.

Once upon a time in a play room in the very top part of a big house there lived many toys. So many there were that after one Christmas, when a big doll came with her trunk full of dresses and a big house for her to live in, the Grow-up Mother told the Little Mother of all the play room toys that some of her toys must go.

And that was the reason that one dark night when the house was quite still and the old toys, those that had lived there a long time, were feeling very sad and unhappy.

"I suppose I shall be one of those who will have to leave," whispered Nina Doll. Much worn and rather shabby-looking was Nina, for she had been given to her Little Mother when she was very little and every night she had slept with her until Teddy Bear took her place.

"I am what the Grown-up Mother calls old," said Nina Doll. "And now the lovely new doll has come here to live and has so many beautiful clothes, I am far too old-fashioned, I expect, to be allowed to remain."

"Don't you cry, Nina," said Teddy Bear. "I shall have to go, too. I am pretty certain my days are numbered, for I no longer am taken to bed. Little Mother takes a big picture book when she goes to bed and is allowed to have the light on until her Mother goes out of the room. I happened to be left behind a chair in the bedroom one night and saw what happened. I was entirely forgotten."

"You must know now how I felt when you came here to live, Teddy," said a yellow-coated dog on wheels. "I used to go out with the Little Mother in the park and run along behind her, but after you came one Christmas I was left up here in a corner and only when the maid came in on cleaning day did I ever get a chance to move a leg—excepting at night, of course, when the magic hour arrives."

"I knew long ago what was going to happen,' spoke up Calico Cat. "I have not been noticed in so long I can't remember the last time the Little Mother spoke to me. I'll be one of those to go. I wonder where we are going. Hope there will be some mice there. Never have been any here."

"You forget me, Madam Puss," squeaked little Tin Mouse, poking out his nose from under a box in the corner nearby.

"Oh, you," said Calico Cat, with a disdainful sniff, "you're tin."

"Ah, yes," answered Tin Mouse, "but you, madam, have no claws, and if you had I can run fast enough to get away. Mice will not mind you wherever you go."

"I'll show you whether I have claws or not," said Calico Cat, making a spring. But Tin Mouse was under the box before she reached him.

"Now, do be quiet and nice to each other," said Jumping Jack. "This may be our last night together. And why spoil it quarreling? I shall be among those who leave, that is sure. I have not been made to jump in a year. I was outgrown long ago. Hi-ho! What's the use of crying. It can't be any worse for me, no matter where I go."

Everybody looked forward toward a small doll house standing by the wall. A sound of sobs came from it and Nina Doll shook her head. "I am sorry for those poor Doll House Dolls," she said. "They have lived here almost as long as I have and they are sure to go and their House with them. It is dreadful to be moved, house and all, but I have not even a trunk to pack or a dress to put in one."

The five Doll House Dolls appeared at the door and windows just then, and one of them asked: "Who else is going? We know that we are, because the Grown-up Mother said so. We are to be carried off when the Little Mother is out for a walk."

NO doubt when unexpected guests arrive in unexpected numbers, you, too, are obliged to borrow silverware—or to set your table with odd and unattractive pieces. But this annoyance is unnecessary!

The sensible thing is to have enough silverware of your own. And in 1847 Rogers Bros. Silverplate you can provide that enough quite reasonably. Six tea spoons in the beautiful new Anniversary Pattern cost only $3.75. Other pieces—table forks, table spoons, butter spreaders—are priced as moderately.

But, for all its inexpensiveness, 1847 Rogers Bros. Silverplate is both beautiful and durable. Its quality has been recognized through three-quarters of a century. Purchase to-day the pieces you need most. On a later occasion add to them in the chosen pattern. Dealers everywhere have the newer 1847 Rogers Bros. patterns in stock.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store. (Advt)

NOBODY'S LOVER

By RUBY M. AYRES

"Rattray was always quixotic," he said slightingly. "What about the mongrel he picked up and adopted . . . There are dozens of stories of that kind told about him. Playing to the gallery, I call it! A thousand pounds, too! Chucked away—simply chucked away," he added regretfully.

Elsa rose to her feet, her face pale and her eyes very angry.

"It's all very well to sneer at Jake—because he's more generous—more noble than . . . than most people!" she said quietly. "But he happens to be a friend of mine, and so I am sure you will understand when I say that I cannot allow you to speak slightingly of him in my house."

It was an obvious dismissal and Baily accepted it with as good a grace as possible. "I'm sorry if you're offended," he apologized lamely.

"I like Rattray! Always liked him!"

As soon as he had gone, Elsa dressed and went round to the college to see Ursula. The maid who opened the door obviously hesitated before she said:

"If you will please come in, the housekeeper will see you."

Elsa thought it strange. She felt a slight foreboding as she waited in a room which was furnished only with a piano and a couple of chairs.

There was a chill atmosphere of unfriendliness about it all, she thought, and she was relieved when the door opened and a kindly looking woman entered.

"You wish to see Miss Lorrimer? May I ask if you are any relation?"

Elsa shook her head. "No, only a friend. I wanted to see her rather urgently. Is anything the matter?"

The woman hesitated, then she said reluctantly. "We were anxious to keep it as quiet as possible. You know how easily alarmed people are, and in a house where there are as many students——"

She paused, and Elsa broke in. "Oh, then, she is ill? Oh, what is the matter with her?"

"She has not been very well for a day or two, and last night—she was very feverish. So we sent for a doctor, and I am sorry to say that she has got diphtheria . . . I cannot imagine how she contracted it. We are always so careful—we have never had a case of infectious illness before . . ."

"Diphtheria! Oh, poor Ursula! But I can see her? I am not afraid! Please let me see her."

The elder woman smiled, shaking her head. "You would not be allowed to see her, even if she were in the house, and she is not. We had to send her away to a nursing home this morning."

Elsa paled. "Oh, but I only saw her the day before yesterday, and she was quite well then. She came to tea with me. There was nothing the matter with her."

"I only know what the doctor says." The elder woman was inclined to be offended. "He had Miss Lorrimer taken away almost immediately. He said she was very ill indeed."

Elsa was dumbfounded. She remembered that Ursula had complained of a headache, but a headache was nothing.

"I can give you her address, and I dare say if you call they will tell you any later news," her companion went on formally. "We have never had such a thing happen before."

"And does Mr. March—her uncle—know?"

"Miss Lorrimer did not wish us to tell anyone. She refused to give us the address of any relative, though I begged her to do so."

"I think she only has this uncle. I know where he lives. I will write to him or call."

She went sadly away. It seemed a tragic coincidence that Jake and Ursula should both be desperately ill at the same time. She felt her own helplessness acutely. She went round to see Mr. March that same evening.

He listened to what she had to say with grim attention.

"This is what comes of her wilfulness," he said rather tartly. "She had far better have stayed with me. I have no sympathy with this modern idea of independence." He looked at Elsa's concerned face, and added ingratiatingly: "And I am sure you agree with me, Mrs. Spicer."

Elsa said that she supposed she did. She was not very prepossessed with Henry March.

"I thought you ought to be told that she is ill," she said.

"I should like to have seen her, but they will not let me, I am afraid."

Henry March replied in horror that he should think not. He was terrified of infection. If Ursula had been lying at death's door, no power on earth would have been able to drag him to her beside.

"I am sure your husband will not allow such a thing," he protested.

"My husband is away," Elsa answered, sadly. "You knew Mr. Rattray, didn't you?"

"You mean the young man who has gone to Australia? My niece and I dined with him the night before he left England."

"He is my husband's greatest friend; and only the day before yesterday we had a wire from Marseilles to say that he is very ill and had been taken ashore from the boat, so my husband has gone out to him."

"Indeed? I am sorry to hear that, but I always said he looked delicate." He smiled facetiously. "There was a time when I thought his attentions to Ursula were serious," he went on. "Fortunately I was wrong. It would have been a disastrous thing if she had married a man in such a bad state of health."

Elsa ignored his words, she made him rather a curt good-bye and went home, and she rang Mr. Simpson up at his office to ask if there was any further news of Jake.

Mr. Simpson sounded concerned as he replied that he had heard nothing more.

"Troubles always seems to come together," Elsa answered. "I suppose you have heard about Miss Lorrimer?"

"Miss Lorrimer?" A sharper note sounded in his voice. "No, I have heard nothing."

Elsa told him of Ursula's illness. "I am going to inquire about her again this morning. They won't let me see her, of course, and I am so anxious."

Simpson, junior, was anxious also. "If it is not troubling you too much," he said, "I should be very glad if you will kindly let me know how she is."

"I certainly will. May I call in and see you as I come home?"

"I shall be in all the morning and afternoon," he answered.

So Ursula was ill! He was surprised at his own anxiety. He slipped out of the office and sent her a large box of roses. It was the first time he had ever sent flowers to a woman, and he smiled and sighed at his own foolishness, realizing that it could all lead—nowhere!

He could not work that day. Every time a step sounded on the stairs he hoped it might be Elsa. When at last she came he rose eagerly.

"Well, and how is she?" he asked. Ursula had been a great deal in his thoughts since that drive down to Barnet.

"I saw one of the nurses," Elsa told him. "Of course, they would not let me see her, though I begged hard! I am afraid she is very ill!

The doctor has seen her twice today. They are very anxious to try and discover where she can have caught it. They asked me ever so many questions as to where she had been, but, of course, I could not tell them anything."

D & A PRACTICAL FRONT (PATENTED) Corsets

A Vest of Pliable Elastic

Perhaps the choicest thing about the D & A Practical Front is the vest of pliable elastic which so surely and so directly clasps, before lacing, at the centre of the body—never crooked, always true. Before you start to lace you know that for the day the corset will stay where it belongs and never ride up to spoil your perfect comfort and pleat or disarrange the lines of your frock.

Once clasped, the lacing on the hooks of special design is easy and quick. Allowing the proper three inch lacing space, the strain is removed from the elastic vest, and so perfectly taken up by the lacing that one cannot tell where it is.

Your corsetiere can tell you an interesting story about the D & A Practical Front—if she has studied this sensational new corset.

Ask her about it.

Made in Canada by The Dominion Corset Co., one of the most important industries in the Dominion—makers of the celebrated D & A, La Diva and Goddess Corsets.

RETURNED SOLDIERS' INSURANCE

In regard to the very large number of applications received for this insurance and the consequent unavoidable delay in issuing policies, the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment desires to point out that all those who have not as yet received their policies are requested to make a point of paying their premiums as they become due. If premiums are payable monthly and only one monthly payment was paid with the application, please continue to forward your premiums. This also applies in cases where premiums are to be deducted from pensions, as it has been found impossible to arrange these deductions on account of the large volume of business involved and the deluge of applications received at the last moment.

To facilitate action, the Victoria office of the D.S.C.R. will receive and acknowledge all payments of insurance premiums, and in this connection wishes to inform any whose policies are in arrears that they may be reinstated upon remitting payments over-due, in accordance with the conditions indicated in the act for this purpose.

All remittances should be made payable Receiver-General for Canada, and forwarded to the Department S.C.R., Victoria, B. C.

THIS MAN TELLS YOU HOW TO KEEP FIT!

Bear River, N.S.—"My back was so bad I could hardly work. I was always tired out and had no ambition; was nervous and dizzy, and everything seemed to worry me. I also had terrible pains in my right side. I felt badly for about eighteen months, and could not do my work as it should have been done. I tried several doctors, and also bought about $25 worth of put up medicines, but I found no relief until I took Doctor Price's Golden Medical Discovery and Doctor Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets. I have taken two bottles of the Discovery and four of the Anuric Tablets, and can say that I feel as well as I have felt for the last ten years. I advise any sufferer to give Dr. Pierce's remedies a fair trial. I cannot recommend them too highly for what they have done for me and shall be pleased to answer any one who cares to write me."—Norman E. Trimper, R.R.1.

SAVING DEPOSITS DROP

Ottawa, Oct. 25 (Canadian Press).—A decrease of $11,285,371 in the total amount of savings deposits held by Canadian banks during the month of September is shown in a statement issued by the Finance Department.

The decrease in savings is offset to a degree by an increase of approximately $3,500,000 in current deposits during the month.

A feature of the statement is the decrease of $18,000,000 in the total of call loans outside Canada, and an increase of approximately $10,000,000 in current loans in Canada. The decrease in the amount of call loans is regarded as possibly due to the fact that the banks evidently experience a demand for current loans at the same time as a falling off in deposits occurred.

AT THE THEATRES

"THE STRANGER'S BANQUET" HERE

Columbia Opens With Screen Version of Popular Novel

One of the most extraordinary casts ever assembled for one motion picture was that selected by Marshall Neiland for his first production in association with Goldwyn Pictures Corporation—a screen version of Donn Byrne's popular novel, "The Strangers' Banquet," which will be screened at the Columbia Theatre for three days, beginning to-day.

For the leading role, that of Derith Keogh, upon whose slender shoulders falls the management of her father's great shipyards, after his death, Mr. Neilan selected a Goldwyn stock player, Claire Windsor the blonde beauty from Kansas, who was offered a job as an extra the first time she entered a studio. Miss Windsor has done some fine work in previous Goldwyn, Lois Wilson and Marshall Neilan productions, but her part in "The Strangers' Banquet" called for versatility, power and skill which had not hitherto been demanded of her. She rose to them like a real artist and takes several steps upward on the lader of picture success as a result.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Ophelia is the name of the highly temperamental burro which figures in scenes in "Pioneer Trails," which will be shown at the Royal Theatre again to-day. Ophelia is the animal ridden by Otis Harlan, who plays the part of "Easy Aaron" Cropsey, itinerant lawyer. The animal is the target of many of his philosophic darts in the picture.

During the taking of some of the scenes, Ophelia lost her baby, "Steve Brodie, Jr.," and refused to work until it was found. The little fellow was then only ten days old and quite small. Despite its tender age it was quite spry.

While its mother stood waiting for the camera, Steve Brodie, Jr., mainly legs and ears, wandered off in true pioneer spirit in search of adventure. When the time arrived for Ophelia to appear in the set her son was still absent and the lady refused to "go on." As the scene was a close-up, the presence of the baby burro was not required and every effort was made to get Ophelia to stand for the scene. But with true display of burro temperament, she refused to budge. She bucked and kicked when attempts were made to lead ehr into the scene.

David Smith, who directed the picture, noted the absence of Steve Brodie, Jr., and ordered him to be brought in. A careful search of the rocks and brush failed to reveal Steve. Four cowboys were enlisted in the search.

All work was stopped while actors and cameramen began beating the brush for the young burro. After covering considerable distance, someone saw a pair of sheen grey ears sticking up above the low brush with which the country is covered. The alarm was sounded. The four cowboys dashed forward, two of them swooping to one side to cut off any possible retreat.

As they closed in, the animal broke through and started off on a mad gait. His ears were seen bobbing along above the shrubbery with the cowboys in rapid pursuit. Down the slope of the hills and out on to the sage covered plain, the chase swept, while the old time settlers marvelled at the fleetness of the baby burro.

With a spurt of their horses, two of the cowboys headed the speeding animal toward their companions of the hunt. Two lariats were loosened and swung into action. As the animal tried to break between the pursuers, the ropes whizzed and drew taut about it. Two cowboys swept in to get the tugging beast before it could hurt itself in the entangling ropes. Then there was a terrific yell. The cowboys had performed a remarkable feat. They had roped a jack rabbit, one of the fleetest animals.

An hour later Steve Brodie, Jr., was found by a property man in a living-room in one of the buildings in the Western town built for the picture. Steve was sound asleep in the room, where he had gone to escape the heat of the sun and the annoyance of possible work.

CAPITOL

Acting for two audiences. This was the task confronting Gloria Swanson during the filming of her latest Paramount starring vehicle, "Zaza," now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Miss Swanson in the title role is the headliner on the bill at L'Odeon, a cafe chantant in St. Etienne. The frequenters of the cafe forming one audience—the camera, representing the picture-going public, being the other. "So," declared Miss Swanson when interviewed on the "set," "I had the rather unusual experience of being both a stage and screen actress at the same time."

"Zaza" is an adaptation of the French play by Pierre Berton and Charles Simon. H. B. Warner plays the leading man's role. Others in the support include Ferdinand Gottschalk, Lucile LaVerne, Mary Thurman, Yvonne Hughes, Riley Hatch, Roger Lytton and Evan Linow. Allan Dwan was the director.

DOMINION

Never in the history of the motion picture industry has a production been accorded such unstinted praise at the hands of critics from coast to coast as was "Merry-Go-Round," the Universal-Super-Jewel, which, owing to public demand, is to be repeated at the Dominion Theatre for the balance of the week. Especially interesting was the approval of the principals and featured members of the cast and of the directorship. It proved a revelation alike to the industry and to the theatre-goers. Some of the unusual points in connection with this picture are:

The discovery of a new star—Mary Philbin, who only a few short years ago was a Chicago high-school girl. Someone entered her in a beauty contest run by the Hearst newspapers, and when it was over she was found to be second choice. Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Pictures Corporation, saw her photograph and arranged a screen test, which she passed satisfactorily. The dainty little Miss was then started on a severe course of training in small parts, gradually increasing in importance, until finally she was deemed ready for starring honors.

Nine months were required for the building of the sets, rehearsals and actual shooting, and more than one thousand extras were engaged during the greater part of that period. In order that each detail of the picture would be absolutely true to life as it was lived in Vienna during the festive days just preceding the World War, Director Rupert Julian sent a staff of specialists to that city to take photographs and obtain data on the city shown in the film. The most noteworthy set in the picture, and one of the greatest pieces of engineering work ever done in connection with the porduction of the picture, was the reproduction at Universal City of the Prater. So marvellous was the likeness that many of the visitors at the film capitol had, who had visited the original, stated that they easily could imagine that they were in Vienna once more.

Originals to Give Snappy Show Here

Canada's famous theatrical company, now touring as the "Originals," and who created a sensation throughout Canada for the past four years, first in "Biff, Bing, Bang," later in the "Dumbells' Revue of 1922" and last season in "Full o' Pep," will again delight thousands of theatregoers here with a brand new and entirely different revue of surprises at the Royal Victoria Theatre for three nights, commencing next Wednesday, October 31.

"Rapid Fire" is the title of their spectacular new offering, which includes all the old favorites, such as "Red" Newman, Arthur (Jock) Holland, Jimmie Goode, Alan Murray, Jerry Brayford, Bill Tennent, Tom Young, Bertram Langley, Ted Carter, Fred Fenwick, Bob Anderson, Charlie McLean, Don McLean, Ivor Ayre, Percy Campbell, and Leonard Young, who is now managing director. A new and highly talented female impersonator—Gene Pearson—is with the "Originals" this season.

Among the twenty-five brand new surprises may be mentioned a brilliant number, written specially for Arthur Holland, called "Monty of the Mounties," set with a typical Western landscape, the dazzling Mountie uniforms in this number are very fine. A brilliant Oriental take off on King Tut, a skit of life in France and a Mexican number are among the highly pleasing comedy situations in the revue, while there is a variety of everything to suit all tastes. Magnificent costumes are worn by the female impersonators and the show is one of the most spectacular and unusual of its kind ever seen in Canada.
